COUNCIL PONDERES
OVER BIG PROBLEM

Advice Of State Officials Is Being Sought By Relief Heads Here

Employment of men on city projects as a relief measure will cease, effective next week, council indicated today owing to an increase in the rates for carrying workmen's compensation insurance. The increase amounts to $1.00, per man each week, according to councilmen who met in city hall this morning.

Heretofore the city has paid a certain percentage on the total payroll. Men received food orders in place of money. For instance if they worked two days a week they would receive $4.00 worth of food. It was on this basis the insurance was paid.

Notified Of Increase
Saturday McBride & Shannon handed to the city notice of the increase in rates. It was an indorsement to be attached to the policy.
The company claimed also that under the contract terms the indorsement could be made retroactive as of January.

Today council put the burden of canceling the policy on the company but passed the Hoyleman motion which had the city refusing to accept the indorsement insofar as it applied to the retroactive rate.

Fifty men were sent to various jobs today. For this the city will have to pay the increased rate, or $1.00 per man for the week. They will continue to work during the present week. Unless there is a de-

PA NEWC OBSERVES

A motorist tells Pa Newc that the city has a little job it should do up on Summer avenue, between Highland avenue and Albert street, and if it isn't done there will be some broken springs that should be billed to the city. It seems there is a small canal crossing the avenue
there and that, without a war tank, it is difficult to get over.

If Japanese beetle traps are placed here this summer, the familiar green traps so numerous about New Castle during the past few summers will have to be brought here from other points. A supply of traps, formerly kept at the city's post office, were removed to other cities by agents of the U. S. agricultural department.

The Japanese beetle inspection station on the New Wilmington-to-Mercer road is still in operation. Pa
Newc noted on Saturday evening.
Motorists traveling from Lawrence to Mercer county are stopped and asked if there are garden products in their cars. The station is an effective way to prevent the spread of the beetle to Mercer county farms. Traps set in Lawrence county last year showed some to be present here. The inspector has been there for two weeks.

Eight army riders and two pack horses passed through the city at 4:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Work is being done on the berm and gutters of the Highland Heights to New Wilmington highway. The Hundreds Inspect Pymatuning Dam

Hundreds of persons from Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio many of them from New Castle and Lawrence county, made a visit to the Pymatuning dam on Sunday afternoon.

The dam is now near completion, and already water has been backed up in the area to make a good sized lake. However, the gates on the outlets are not yet being operated;
the gate house is not yet having been erected. Contract has been awarded and it is expected that this feature of the dam will be completed soon.

The top of the dam will be a roadway, with two thick stone walls skirting the edges. These walls are now being built, and will soon be completed.

Seek To Force Early Vote On Farm Relief And Inflation Bill

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
WASHINGTON, April 24.—Enthusiastic administration forces in the Senate today sought to force an early vote on the tremendous inflation-mortgage-farm relief bill.

A bitter but futile conservative Republican minority threatened to block a final vote Wednesday, in an effort to arouse the nation against the proposal to empower the president to increase the currency by from $3,000,000,000 to $12,000,000,000.
The measure was regarded generally as the most important piece of economic legislation ever to be considered by a legislative assembly.

Authorizes Expansion
The inflation sections of the bill would authorize the president to expand the currency $3,000,000,000 through the Federal Reserve system, issue $3,000,000,000 more of United States notes, remonetize silver and reduce the gold content of the dollar. Administration leaders predicted it would be formally attached to the farm bill "without change."

The farm relief provisions were as far-reaching, although some administration spokesmen predicted they might never be invoked if the inflation program increased commodities as anticipated. The farm measure would authorize the secretary of agriculture to increase commodity prices by renting surplus acreage, negotiating price-fixing agreements between producers and processors, and pay bonuses under the allotment system and export bounties to a limited degree. They would apply to wheat, cotton, sorghum, corn, hogs, dairy products, rice and sugar.

Would Refinance Farms
The mortgage relief provisions would authorize $2,000,000,000 bond issue to refinance farm mortgages at 4 1/2 percent interest, with a 5-year moratorium on payments. A second section would create a $200,- 000,000 R. F. C. fund for loans to redeem foreclosed mortgages on farms.

The farm and mortgage relief

MACHINE CRASHES INTO DEEP DITCH

(International News Service)
OIL CITY, Pa., April 24.—A portly sow with a wanderlust urge who took her eight sucklings on a nocturnal excursion along a highway last night was the cause of an unusual accident in which three persons were killed and four others injured near Leeper, 20 miles east of here.

The dead: Mrs. Ruby Black, 21; Jerome Black, her two-month-old son; and Miss Matilda Trumbull, 15, a sister of Mrs. Black, all residents of Sackett, near Kane. The sow and her brood also were killed.

Cecil Black, 27, husband of the dead mother, and his three other children who were hurt in the wreck, today were believed on the road to recovery.

After striking the sow, the automobile plunged into a ditch and was demolished.

Every one of the fifty persons called for jury duty at common pleas court this week, answered to their names when called by Deputy Prothonotary Jack Edgar this morning. This was something unusual, as there are generally several absentees. Only two of the jurors asked to be excused and their requests were granted. They were J.
Newell McKibben of Pulaski and Ira
E. White of Slippery Rock township.

Shenango Valley Probing Water Diversion Idea

Leaders Aroused Over Suggestion Of Diverting Py-matuning Water To Ohio

IN CANAL PARLEY

New Castle Man, However, Says Diversion Would Be Almost Impossible

Interested and somewhat disturbed over the reported possibility that water from the Pymatuning dam might be diverted to the Mahoning river to aid the youngstown end of the proposed slackwatering of the Beaver-Mahoning rivers, a meeting of city and county officials of Mercer county was held in Sharon Saturday afternoon. The meeting was called hurriedly and it is probable that at the next meeting
New Castle men interested in both projects will be invited to join with them.

Probe Report
The reason for the meeting came from the recent inspection trip of United States army engineers headed by Major W. D. Sayer. In commenting upon the trip Major Sayer and his associates discussed the possibility of diverting the Pymatuning water to the Mahoning river, but nothing definite was said that the plan was a part of the project.

However, the very fact that such a possibility might occur, to the disadvantage of the Shenango valley, prompted Burgess George Mahan-ey of Sharpsville to call the meeting.

The meeting in Sharon Saturday was largely attended and at the conclusion a committee was appointed, consisting of Burgess Mahaney, Norman Powell, Mayor Fred Thomas of Sharon, John Harris,
Mayor Joseph Franek of Farrell, Bert Zilson and Attorney Fred Fruit.
This committee will survey the effect of such diversion upon the Shenango valley, if it were done, and also investigate the possibilities of its being done.

Says Idea Impracticable
In the opinion of Howard B.
Richards, superintendent of the New Castle Water Company, the proposal to divert water from the Pymatuning to the Mahoning rivers is not only impracticable, but probably impossible. Mr. Richards has spent more than a quarter of a century in the water business, both in the field and as an executive.
"To divert water from the dam near Andover, O., would mean an aqueduct about 30 miles long," he said. "Even though such an aqueduct could be authorized, it would be Unable To Affect Reconcilia-

Man Suicides

DIES IN HOSPITAL SUNDAY MORNING

Unable to effect a reconciliation with his divorced wife, according to police, Jack Glazier, aged 30, who has been rooming at 40 North Beaver street for the past four weeks, returned to his room Saturday night, after visiting his former wife at 616 Raymond street, drank poison and died from the effects at 4:30 o'clock Sunday morning at the New Castle hospital. His estranged wife was taken to the hospital by the police before his death occurred.

About 1:15 o'clock Sunday morning, Miss Jessie Long of 40 North Beaver street, came to the police station and stated that a roomer at her home had attempted suicide and was in a serious condition.

Officers Richards and Showalter made a hurried trip to that place and took the suffering man to New Castle hospital, where he died a few hours later.

Find Note Investigation by the police led to the discovery of a note written on a small piece of paper, which read
"Call and ask for Mary Ellen. My home address is known to her—Jack."

With this information, the police located his divorced wife at 616 Raymond street and she was taken to the hospital. It was found that

Washington, Pa., Extends Invitation For Next Conference

Banquet and dance held Saturday evening at The Castleton as the initial affair of the thirty-sixth session of the Tri-State Typographical Union Conference with Local No.
270 of this city playing the part of host was a decidedly successful affair.

More than a hundred delegates, local members, their wives, lady friends and special guests, including Mayor Charles B. Mayne and owners and managers of local printing establishments and their wives were in attendance.

A sumptuous dinner was served at 7:30 o'clock, after the Rev. Philip C.
Pearson, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, had asked the divine blessing on the assembled gathering.

Armor Toastmaster Delightful music was furnished during the banquet and following it by an orchestra. Following the banquet, W. G. Armor, member of New Castle Local No. 270, assumed his duties as toastmaster of the occasion.

With fitting introductory remarks, he presented the Hon. Charles

FORMER FRENCH PREMIER AND CANADIAN PRIME MINISTER JOIN PARLEY

Discussions Between President Roosevelt And British Premier Continue

JOINT MEETING IS ARRANGED TUESDAY

Stabilization Of American
And British Currencies Leading Problem

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 24.—International discussions in the little economic conference pushed ahead today on a wide front, taking in monetary stabilization, disarmament, debts and trade restrictions. The success, if any, remained masked behind the stock phrase of all such international meetings:
"Progress Is Being Made."

Into the picture today, hitherto dominated by Anglo-American conversations, came two new figures, Pudgy Edouard Herriot, ex-premier of France, and Richard B. Bennett, prime minister of Canada. Their cooperation is necessary in any and all agreements. France because of her dominance on the continent, Canada because of the famous Ottawa trade agreements, part of which must be sacrificed if the conference is to attain that success for which the administration hopes.

To Stabilize Currency
As the discussions entered the second week, there is complete accord on two subjects: (1) that the dollar and the pound sterling should be stabilized as quickly as possible for the benefit of harassed commerce, and (2) that the general world economic conference should be advanced to the earliest possible date.

The world conference must ratify any and all agreements, the discussions in Washington being designed simply to pave the way for decisions later.

While there is agreement between the British and Americans that the dollar and the pound sterling should be quickly stabilized, there is no agreement at the point of stabilization. It was reported that the British were willing to peg the pound around $3.50, with the Americans contending that it should be nearer $4.00.

For the time being, President Roosevelt and Premier Ramsay
MacDonald are leaving that detail to their "experts," while they confine their own discussion to the broader phases of the world's economic pains.

To Bring Herriot Into Conference
A joint meeting between the president, Premier MacDonald and Mr.
Herriot is being arranged, and probably will be held tomorrow. The French envoy will meet the president for the first time late this afternoon when he goes to the White House to tea.

The schedule has been so arranged that Mr. MacDonald and Mr.
Herriot will be at different places at the same hour. While M. Her-

TRAFFIC LIGHT IS BEING REPAIRED

Traffic light at East Washington street and Croton avenue is out of use at the present time and has been for several days because of the fact that several springs and other parts of the mechanism of the light are broken. They could not be repaired here and had to be sent to the factory. The parts are expected back in a day or two. While the light is out of commission, officers are being detailed to handle traffic at that point during the busier hours of the day.

(Special To The News)
LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 24.—My old friend, Arthur Brisbane, accused me good-naturally of being worried over the "inflation." I wasn't worried, I was just "confused."

There is quite a difference.
When you are worried you know what you are worried about, but when you are "confused," it's when you don't know enough about a thing to be worried.
But Arthur, even my confusion is all over now. Everybody that I meet has explained this whole "inflation" thing so clearly that now I am going around explaining it myself.

You see medical science has developed two ways of actually tracing insanity, one is if the patient cuts out paper dollars or works at a jig-saw puzzle, and the other it is the patient who says, "I will tell you what this economic business really means."

Mrs. Ruth Judd To Enter Asylum

Jury Declares Dual Murderess Is Insane; Saves
Her From Hanging

(International News Service)
STATE PRISON, Florence, Ariz., April 24.—Winnie Ruth Judd was to enter the state hospital for the insane at Phoenix today.

A jury's verdict that the "double trunk murderess" was insane saved her from being hanged next Friday.
She had been convicted of killing her intimate friend, Agnes Anne Lerol, whose body with that of Hedvis Samuelson was cut up and shipped in trunks from Phoenix to Los Angeles.

As Warden A. G. Walker prepared to remove Mrs. Judd from her prison cell to the asylum at Phoenix, she still appeared to be more interested in what would become of Egypt, a black cat, and four kittens, than in her own fate.

Seems To Understand
She will give away the kittens.
Authorities agreed to allow her to take Egypt to the asylum.

Mrs. Judd was more cheerful, prison officials said. The blank stare with which she greeted the jury's verdict was gone and she smiled as matrons marveled her hair. The officials said she has commenced to realize faintly that she is not to be hanged, and was happy when assured that good care would be taken of her kittens.

MOONEY TRIAL TO START ON WEDNESDAY

Prepare For Case At San Francisco

Many Unusual Points To Second Trial Of Famous Prisoner

MAY SEEK TO HAVE CASE DISMISSED

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—Counsel for Tom Mooney, headed by the noted attorney, Frank P. Walsh, of New York, today were perfecting their plans for presenting the famous prisoner's case to a jury.

The trial, scheduled to be heard in Superior Judge Louis H. Ward's court Wednesday, is unique in many ways. Among the unusual points were:

- Unusual Features.
- 1—District Attorney Matthew Brady, whose office will prosecute the case, has already asked three California governors to pardon Mooney.
 - 2—Attorney General U. S. Webb ruled that Brady must proceed with the prosecution after Brady had asked permission to withdraw from the case.
 - 3—Mooney expressed willingness to risk his life on the gallows in the event he is found guilty.
 - 4—John O'Garra, assistant district attorney during Mooney's first trial, argued that the trial would place Mooney under "double jeopardy" and thus be invalid.
 - 5—Judge Ward ruled that only a defendant could plead double jeopardy. (Mooney has not done so.)

Inasmuch as the district attorney's office has made it known that a conviction of Mooney will be difficult, pointing out that witnesses have disappeared since previous trials, it was possible, it was said, that the state would ask for a dismissal after selection of a jury.

TRI-STATE PRINTERS ENJOY CONFERENCE

who stated that it was a pleasure for him to welcome the visitors to the city and assured them of all the courtesies at his command during their stay here. He expressed the hope that they might see fit to return again some time.

J. R. Harris, of Wheeling, West Va., president of the Tri State Typographical Conference, responded. In the course of his remarks, he spoke of present day conditions and unemployment and those moves made by the Typographical Union to help alleviate the unpleasant conditions now existing and stated that the printers and all organized labor must face the situation bravely and "Sail On" seeking the promised land of better things.

The orchestra then presented Junior Rankin in some special vocal selections. Fred L. Rentz, president of The News Company, spoke at this point, reminiscing, during which he recalled the earlier days of union printers in this city and the part that the union organization played in bringing him into the newspaper publishing end of the printers trade.

Woman Speaks
W. G. Marshall of the New Castle Local then introduced Mrs. William Miller, secretary of the Women's Auxiliary to the Cumberland, Maryland Typographical Union, who spoke at some length and suggested the benefits to be derived by the organization of such an auxiliary here.

Ned Sims of Wheeling, West Va., spoke on the benefits that had been derived by the printers in effecting the Typographical Union and drew attention of the younger members of the organization to carry on and gain the greater benefits that are yet to come in the future.

A final selection by the orchestra, Rev. Philip C. Pearson, made brief concluding remarks and pronounced the benediction. Dancing was the diversion of the balance of the evening until midnight.

Sunday the ladies in attendance at the conference with their husbands were entertained by the ladies of the members of New Castle local. A luncheon was held and then they were taken for an automobile ride to see the things of interest in this district, which included a trip to Mercer and other nearby points.

The committee of New Castle Local in charge of the various conference activities consisted of H. L. Gresham, chairman, V. E. Burkholder, J. S. Fleckenstein, P. R. Finch, H. E. Hickling, J. A. Jackamo, and W. G. Marshall.

Can We Have FAITH
We notice by the paper that the Ministerial Association at their last meeting ask the Christian people to refrain from patronizing stores that sell beer, (according to the present laws there is nothing unlawful about selling beer), at the same meeting they ask the Christian people to attend church on Day Light Savings Time, (which according to our present laws is unlawful).

How about our Christian people who are stockholders in concerns that are selling beer, shall we patronize them?

Business Session
Business session of the Tri State Typographical Union Conference opened at 10 a. m. Sunday in the ballroom of The Castleton and continued until four o'clock in the afternoon.

Election of officers for the ensuing year was one of the principal matters of business. Prior to the election, the decision was reached that the Pennsylvania district was entitled to three instead of one vice-president as has been the custom in the past.

The election was then held and resulted as follows: President, H. L. Woodmansee, Pittsburgh; First Vice-President, T. J. Little, McKeesport; second vice-president, R. J. Leslie, Erie; third vice-president, T. W. Vaughan, Pittsburgh; fourth vice-president, William A. Miller, Cumberland, Maryland; fifth vice-president, Jay G. Henderson, Wheeling, West Va.; secretary-treasurer, Clyde S. Slick, Johnstown, Pa. Mr. Slick was the only previous officer re-elected.

Washington Pa., extended an invitation to hold the next quarterly conference at that place. It was referred to the executive committee, which group will act in the matter in the near future.

H. L. Woodmansee, the new president, made a stirring address on present day conditions in the printing trade at the opening of the afternoon session.

The conference went on record as favoring Old Age Pensions, Unemployment Insurance and the Mothers Pension Fund, bills for which are now held in committee in the senate of Pennsylvania.

Action was taken authorizing the officers to telegraph both Governor Pinchot and General Edward Martin, head of the Republican State Organization, to see to it that these acts were brought out of committee this session and acted upon.

Rice Company Funeral Home on East North street and later to the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Michael Glazier, 107 Jefferson street, Youngstown, O.

He was born in Elmira, N. Y., May 8, 1903, the son of Michael and Mary Sischak Glazier. He is survived by his parents, four sisters and two brothers.

Coroner Orville Potter viewed the body following his death and found death was due to the drinking of the poison, which was taken with suicidal intent.

At the New Castle hospital, shortly after his arrival, the city police made an investigation. Detective C. C. Horner and Officer Harry Flinger went to the hospital.

They found that Albanese some time ago had been in the hospital undergoing treatment. He had recovered sufficiently to return to his home in West Pittsburg, about six months ago.

Apparently his condition did not improve as he hoped for and in becoming despondent, he shot himself, police reported.

"What caused the accident?" Was the road in a wet condition?"

"No, but the driver was."

A local lady reports to Pa News that the City Hall electric sign was burning on Saturday afternoon.

Not many cities are better looked down on from State street Sunday night at midnight and it presented quite a brilliant sight.

The fire at the Vine street barn was visible all over the city Saturday evening and attracted great hordes of autoists. Traffic in the vicinity of the fire was so badly congested that police had to be called to straighten out the tangle.

James E. Blaine, Butler road is quite proud of his fishing ability, for Saturday he went out to Hettendburgh run, and after casting about for a while he succeeded in landing a beautiful speckled trout, fifteen and a half inches long. The fish weighed two and a half pounds and made a delicious Sunday dinner for the family.

Many a New Castle car must have dotted the New Castle-Akron highway lanes on Sunday, judging from the reports of local residents. Akron to witness the U. S. S. Macon's thrilling take-off and landing maneuvers. The ship flew on her second trial flight over Lake Erie.

The East Washington street-Croton avenue traffic light was puzzling motorists today. Since it went out of commission last week, drivers have been wondering whether it was functioning or not as they approached.

Heavy frosts were noticed this morning and Sunday morning, but whether any serious damage was done to early fruits will probably not be determined until later. Sunday morning, the temperature dropped to 25 degrees, and ice was frozen. This morning's low was 30 degrees.

Horseback riders are one group of people who are not at all enthusiastic about Mr. Pinchot's secondary road building idea. Many good bridge paths were ruined by the hard surfaced roads.

Pa notices that new "school zone" signs have been erected in the vicinity of the little stone school house on the Highland Heights-New Wilmington road.

Yesterday's weather would have been ideal for Easter Sunday.

Pa News had the best view of Enon Valley yesterday that anyone could get outside of from an airplane. He stood on a high knoll at the northwest part of the town and could see for miles around. It offers just about as pretty a sight as anywhere in the county.

Violet picking time is here. Pa saw a lady yesterday with a large bouquet of the pretty little blue flowers.

FIRE DESTROYS KNOBLOCH BARN

ed at 8:20, calling the B truck company from central station, and No. 3 truck from Croton to the scene. People residing on Ray street, seeing the blaze in the sky, also pulled box 38, at Ridge and Ray streets and Nos. 4 and 5 also started for the scene.

Fire Chief Stockman was unable to get the traffic tangle straightened out, and called state police to aid him. The Knobloch barn, dangerously close to the blazing barn, was saved from destruction by the B truck and No. 4 companies.

A horse, owned by Harry A. Knobloch, and two head of cattle, which had been kept in the barn and which, had recently been removed to another location, Mr. Knobloch stated.

Other Alarms.

Two other alarms were answered by firemen over the week-end. At 5:10 Saturday evening, seventh ward firemen were called to 206 South Wayne street, where damage of $200 was caused to a garage owned by Andrew Master.

At 4:45 Sunday afternoon two companies were called to Taylor street by an alarm from box 45. Arriving on the scene they found a grass fire in progress.

Break Record At Third U. P. Church

Over Thousand Present At Sunday School, Exceeding Previous Records

Attendance records at the Third U. P. Sunday School were shattered Sunday morning, when 1,045 were present for the exercises of the day. An attendance goal of 1,000 had been set for the day in the various departments, with all departments and classes organized in the effort. The final check, showed the goal had been exceeded.

This record exceeds any previous mark in attendance at the church. The Men's Bible class reported an attendance of 136, while the ladies had 145 present.

Sunday's accomplishment was the culmination of a two month's Loyalty Drive, during which the average school attendance was 900 per Sunday.

Chinese Claiming Marked Victories

Japanese Troops Threatening Peiping-Tientsin Forced Back

MANY CASUALTIES ARE REPORTED

By JOHN GOETTE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PEIPING, April 24.—Faced by stiff Chinese resistance, Japanese troops threatening the Peiping-Tientsin district fell back today.

Foreign observers at the scene of conflict reported the Japanese were fulfilling their promises not to press on to the South, and have already withdrawn half their forces from the Luan river district south of the Great Wall.

This Japanese maneuver, it was reported, permitted the Chinese troops to recapture the towns of Yungping, Chienan and surrounding villages.

Fighting continues
At the same time, 300 members of General Li Chi-Chun's "rebel" Republic of China army" long without pay, defied their leaders and joined Chinese regulars near Changli.

Fighting in the region of Kupe pass in that Great Wall, in progress since Friday, continued as Chinese leaders asserted 200 Japanese had been killed, 30 captured and much ammunition seized.

An official communique issued this afternoon said further Japanese attacks were anticipated. Japanese reinforcements have arrived to aid the invaders, the statement said.

While the Chinese were claiming marked victories, Japanese sources reported the regiment led by Major General Tadashi Kawahara had penetrated nine miles south of Kupe pass, on the way to Peiping.

FORMER PREMIER, PRIME MINISTER JOIN PARLEY

riot is having tea with Mr. Roosevelt, the British premier will be teaing with ex-Secretary of State Stimson at his suburban home in Woodley. Stimson is regarded as a probable member of the American delegation to the world economic conference.

The arrangements for the world conference probably will be long in the making. This was indicated today by the decision of the British to leave several of their experts behind when Mr. MacDonald departs on Wednesday for home. It is likely the French will leave some of theirs, too.

The extent to which the debts are figuring in the discussions, or will figure, remains undisclosed. None of the brief communiques have even mentioned the troublesome issue. The impression has been conveyed that the urgency of the monetary question has shoved the thorny debt problem far in the background. It cannot, however, remain there indefinitely, but the manner and shape in which it is to be brought forward remains to be seen.

Works New Scheme To Get Gasoline

Mickey Mudrak's Other Pair Of Pants, Figure In "Larceny By Trick"

Three local gasoline dealers have been the victims of a new scheme, according to evidence submitted before Alderman L. C. Mantz this morning at a hearing of Mickey Mudrak, aged 19, on a charge of larceny by trick.

According to the evidence Mickey's trick was to drive his car up to a gasoline station and order some gas in the tank. Then he would reach into his pocket, and with a look of consternation on his face exclaim, "Gee, I've left my money in my pants. I'll go right home and get it."

Mickey would then drive off, leaving the gasoline dealer holding the bag.

The scheme was worked on three dealers, H. H. Davis of South Mercer street, George Forest of South Beaver street and Thomas English of East Washington street.

When they compared notes they found that Mickey had acted the same role at each station.

Mickey didn't have any money to pay the costs in the case, so Alderman Mantz sent him to jail for 15 days.

Airmen Found

Winslow, Arizona, Publisher And Pilot Found Dead In Charred Plane

(International News Service)
WINSLOW, Ariz., April 24.—The bodies of C. L. Giarl, 39, Winslow's "living publisher" and of Pilot Jack Irish, 34, today had been found in the burned wreckage of their airplane near Sunset Mountain Pass 18 miles south of Winslow.

They had been missing since last Monday when they hopped off during a blizzard for a trip to Phoenix.

Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Cummings and sons, Donald and Jack, and Miss Clara Cummings, of Pittsburgh, visited the home folks at East Brook Sunday.

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. Jennie Crooks

Mrs. Jennie Crooks, wife of Dr. E. A. Crooks, pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church, 605 Oak street, died Saturday, April 22, at six p. m. following an illness of nine years.

Mrs. Crooks was born in Hickory Grove, Ia., August 5, 1870, the daughter of John and Eliza Stewart Bedford, and was 62 years of age. She and her husband moved here 16 years ago from La Junta, Colo., the latter having accepted the pastorate of the Reformed Presbyterian church here at that time.

She was widely known and highly esteemed and was most active in church and civic affairs prior to her illness. She was a member of the Reading Circle of '91 and was instrumental in the organization of the Ministers Wives Club of the city, and was also well known as a public speaker and was most active in the work of the Women's Missionary Society, not only of the local Reformed Presbyterian church, but also of the Presbytery. During the World War she acted as a substitute teacher in the schools of the city. She had been married 35 years. She had been a member of the Reformed Presbyterian church all her life.

She leaves to mourn her death her husband, Rev. Dr. E. A. Crooks, one son, John, and two sisters, Miss Agnes Bedford and Mrs. R. A. Cabene, of Blanchard, Ia. Funeral services will be held Tuesday, April 25, at 10 a. m. in the Reformed Presbyterian church, with Dr. J. S. Martin of Beaver Falls in charge. The funeral party leaves at 1:00 p. m. Tuesday for Blanchard, Ia., where further services and interment will take place later.

Mrs. Shurella Young

Mrs. Shurella Young, aged 80, widow of John Young, died Sunday at 9 a. m. in the home of Ed Jordan, Slippery Rock township, as the result of a fall down the stairs of the home. She died almost instantly.

Mrs. Young had made her home with the Jordons the past 18 years. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Hayvill.

Mrs. Young has been taken to the Boyd funeral home, North Jefferson street, until the time of the funeral services, which will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the Jerusalem Lutheran church, near Princeton.

Interment will be made in the church cemetery.

Watson C. Osborne

Watson C. Osborne, age 65 years, died at his home in Forestville, Pa. Saturday April 22, at 6:00 a. m. after a four week's illness. Mr. Osborne was known in New Castle and has relatives in this vicinity.

He was a faithful member of the Bethel U. P. church. He is survived by his wife, Cora McGill Osborne at home and the following children: Mrs. William Krah and Calvin Osborne, of Ellwood City, Clair Osborne, of Harrisville and Mrs. Harold Bell at home.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. from the Bethel U. P. church, Forestville. Interment will be made in the Harrisville cemetery.

John J. Michael Funeral

Funeral services for John J. Michael, 108 Gardner avenue, were held Saturday afternoon from the Ritchie funeral home, South Mill street, with Rev. W. H. Downing of the Mahoning Methodist church officiating. Mrs. W. H. Moreman and Mrs. Chester Johnson sang a number of selections.

Palbearers were George Ford, Scott Richard, J. F. Rentz, Milton Tindall, Francis Stephenson, and Will Antibus. Interment was made in Rich Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Alice S. Kimball

Mrs. Alice S. Kimball, aged 77, widow of George Kimball, 507 Pine street, died Saturday at 1 p. m. after a stroke, which she suffered last week.

She was a member of the Trinity Episcopal church and of the auxiliary to the Locomotive Engineers. She is survived by a son, George.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 4 o'clock from the O'flute funeral home, with Rev. P. C. Pearson officiating. Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

Mrs. Reecher's Funeral

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Harriet Reecher, New Virginia, Sharon, Pa., R. D. No. 2, were held in the New Virginia M. E. church Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

provisions were approved by the Senate. A Republican substitute for the whole farm relief plan was to be offered by Senator Carey (R) Wyoming, killing all the price-fixing and taxing provisions. Its rejection was certain.

After that, the Senate will battle over acceptance of the administration's inflationary program. The conservative Republican attack was directed chiefly against the provisions, authorizing the president to reduce the gold content of the dollar and to fix a ratio between gold and silver. The latter provision would permit unlimited free coinage of silver if the president found such a course desirable.

Reed Leads Attack

A triumvirate of Republican chiefs were credited with leading the opposition. They were former secretaries of the treasury Andrew W. Mellon and Ogden L. Mills, and Senator David A. Reed (R) of Pennsylvania. Reed was the spearhead of the attack. He conceded defeat unless opponents of inflation rolled up an avalanche of protests.

The strategy of the administration leaders was to let the attack wear itself out in debate. Majority Leader Robinson insisted on a vote by Wednesday. If the Republican opposition filibusters, he will invoke cloture. In the House, Democratic leader Rainey predicted prompt approval as soon as the measure passes the Senate.

be necessary to go through a watershed, which would be almost impossible.

"The watershed which feeds Walnut creek and Mosquito creek sends the water into the Grand river, which is towards Lake Erie and away from the Mahoning river. Coming down to Wheatland, we again find that a watershed would have to be crossed to get over to the Mahoning river, and here again it looks like an impossibility. The Yankee run originates in Ohio, but flows into the Shenango river because of this watershed.

"Pumping the water from the Pyramating to the Mahoning is entirely out of the question. It is my opinion that there would be no other way to get the water across. The only solution, it seems to me, would be for Young

EAST SIDE GARDEN CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Through the capable leadership of Mrs. W. C. Eckenrood, president of the Lawrence County Garden Club and vice-chairman of Conservation of the South Western District of the Federation, a new club was organized in the home of Mrs. J. Albert Wilson, 913 Morton street April 21 which will be known as the East Side Garden Club.

Mrs. Eckenrood gave an interesting talk telling the purposes of garden club and their aims which will also apply to this recent organization. A special guest, Mrs. Lee P. Smith, vice president of the Mill Creek Garden Club, Youngstown, O., favored members with a short talk telling about the work of her club that was most beneficial.

Officers were elected as follows: president, Mrs. Harry Sturdevant; first vice, Mrs. J. Albert Wilson; second vice, Mrs. J. Elder Bryan; recording secretary, Miss Bessie Robinson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. Earl Seal and treasurer, Mrs. Mary Robinson.

They decided to meet on the second Wednesday of each month in the form of a 1 o'clock luncheon, the next hostess to be Mrs. Sturdevant of 913 Morton street, on May 10. The program committee for this occasion comprises Mrs. Wilson, chairman assisted by Mrs. Bryan and Mrs. Sherman Kitzon.

Attend Breakfast
Mrs. Margaret Kelly, Mrs. Evelyn Woods, May Cummings, Margaret Kane, Celia Daugherty, Rosemary Reynolds and Anne Sweeney, members of the Catholic Daughters of America, were in Pittsburgh Sunday and attended the communion service in the St. Paul's Cathedral, when fifteen hundred received communion, and the breakfast in the Schenley Hotel, when 950 were served.

COUPLE HONORED AT SATURDAY GATHERING

As a courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Richards Sheets a bride and groom of recent date, Mr. and Mrs. John Kenahan entertained informally at a delightful party Saturday evening in their home on Harrison street.

Bridge formed the pastime, prizes for honors being captured by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dunlap, of Pittsburgh, the only out-of-town participants. At the conclusion of play the guests were ushered into the dining room where they were served a delicious lunch by the hostess at a table fittingly appointed.

Mrs. Sheets will be remembered by friends here as Allene Gates the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gates of Ashland, Ky.

The couple received a collection of lovely gifts to use in their new home at Martins Ferry, Ohio.

DINNER PARTY HELD AT BARNES RESIDENCE
Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Barnes, 320 Sheridan avenue, were pleasing hosts Sunday to a gathering of friends in their home when they entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner.

A delicious menu was served at the appointed hour, and a feature of the occasion was the unique basket of ice cream brought in and set in the center of the table. Places were arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Donald Neyman, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. R. Russell, Ralph Montgomery, Miss Mabel Russell, Elmer Minter, the latter two who assisted, all of New Castle, and Dr. and Mrs. David W. Morgan of Pittsburgh, and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Montgomery of Greensburg.

The leisure period following was spent informally.

Club Entertains
Miss Mary Alice Carey entertained on April 21 her bridge club which includes the following members: Patricia Woods, Mary Lou Hoffman, Dorothy Hogue, Edna Rancy, Clydena Coy, Patricia Maher and Eleanor Quinn, marking their second gathering. A name for the club has yet to be decided upon, and during the business routine suggestions were heard.

Dancing, cards and other diversions were enjoyed, the prizes for bridge honors going to Dorothy Hogue and Patricia Woods. Lunch was served later by the hostess. In two weeks they will meet again, the place to be announced.

Kensington Postponement

WESTERN PARTY AT NESHANNOCK FALLS

Sons and daughters of the "Old West" gathered at the home of W. G. Hall, Neshannock Falls, Friday evening. Wide sombreros, chaps, firearms of the men; long skirts, bonnets and capes of the girls, added a touch of reality to the unusual party.

At 8:30 o'clock among other vehicles there rolled in an old covered wagon, driven by a rarin' son of Texas, Carl Snyder, in full regalia. Under the canvas were riding two cowboys and their girls, Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Everhart and Mr. and Mrs. John Pontius.

The house was given over to the real old western merriment, there being three rooms of dancing. One was lighted by red lights, another by bright lights and the third by kerosene.

Mingling with the men of the desert and ranch were two sheriffs and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Shearer and Mr. and Mrs. Reid Cummins. Adding dignity to the occasion was the straight-thinkin' hard-ridin' range preacher with his missus, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dismus. Then an old government scout in his cap, buckskins and fringes, was there in the person of W. G. Hall.

Two smooth Mexican dons with their American girls were played by Wallace Frankenberg, Grant Park, Nettie Hall and Cecile Hall. The sturdy pioneer people were there: Mr. and Mrs. Sam Buchanan, Urban Lackey, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blake Mary Wilson, Chester Miller, Laura McKnight, Frances Pontius and Sam Blake.

In off the range had ridden David McKnight, Helen Walker, George Walker, Ralph Rockwell and Ralph Buchanan. Presenting a picturesque figure was a gold miner from his claim, stepping with a Spanish senora, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cheers. Miss Nellie Hall was garbed in the costume of a senorita. Music of the old days was furnished by Sewell's Hayseeds.

At a late hour the long mess line was formed and the guests received their tin pans of food and, seated in the informal fashion of the desert and range, ate their evening snack.

Ninth Birthday Honored
Mrs. Guy McCracken, of Park avenue, entertained fourteen boys in her home Saturday afternoon, in honor of the birthday of her son, Guy, Jr., who celebrated his ninth birthday. Games and contests of various kinds were played during the afternoon, prizes being awarded: Charles Morrow, Bobby Sneckenberger, Bobby Payne, John Gillan, Harry McKee, Jr., and Bennie French, Jr.

Later in the afternoon, the boys were invited to the dining room, where they found places marked for each with clever place cards and favors. Luncheon was served by Mrs. McCracken, assisted by Miss Ethel Morrow, Miss Mary McClellan, Mrs. G. B. McClellan, and Mrs. Charles E. Allen.

The table was centered with a large birthday cake, with lighted candles, the color scheme being carried out in rainbow tones. The little honor guest received many pretty reminders of the occasion. Billy Nagle, of Ellwood City, was an out-of-town guest.

Elected To Society.
Thomas P. Johnson, New Castle, was among 16 juniors and seniors of Rollins college, Winter Park, Fla. who were elected to membership in the Rollins Key society, honorary scholastic organization. Members are selected semi-annually on the basis of scholarship and extra-curricular activities and high moral standing. They are chosen from students in the upper division and membership is limited to 30.

Mr. Johnson is president of the junior class, a member of the debating team and a member of Kappa Alpha (Southern) social fraternity.

Legislative Department Notes
The postponed meeting of the Legislative Department of the Women's Club will be held Saturday evening April 29 at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Rudolph Stadelhofer, 1304 Highland avenue. The Hon. William J. Eroe, Representative in the General Assembly from New Castle will speak on the final passage of Amended Bill and appropriations that the club is especially interested in.

Mrs. Homer Drake will lead the discussion on Permanent Registration. The chairman will present the question "Should America Adopt A Unified Banking System?"

Circle '96 Postponement.
The meeting scheduled for The Reading Circle of '96 members on Thursday this week has been postponed on account of club institute being held in the First U. P. church by the federation, sessions starting at 10:30 o'clock.

On May 11 Mrs. L. T. Moore of Morton street will receive the circle.

When the evening shades are falling, Dad,
And I'm sitting all alone,
To my heart there comes a longing
If he only could come home.
Sad and sudden was his call,
So dearly loved by one and all.
No one knows the silent heartache,
Only those who lived can tell.
But many a silent tear we shed,
For the one we loved so well.

SPEAKERS HEARD AT WASHINGTON MEETING

Mrs. James T. Ray, regent, and Mrs. F. E. Sowersby, delegate of Lawrence chapter, returned Sunday from the 42nd continental congress of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, held in Washington, D. C., from April 16-21.

They report a splendid and most interesting meeting and among the noted speakers who gave worthwhile messages were the following: the Hon. Ruth Bryan Owen spoke on "Education for Citizenship"; a talk on her trip across the Atlantic was given by Amelia Earhart; "The Nation's Present Need for Our Army" was discussed by Major General Stephen O. Fuqua, chief of infantry of the U. S. army.

An address on "Soviet Russia and the United States" was given by Dr. Edmund A. Walsh, S. J., vice president of Georgetown University. The Honorable Seth W. Richardson, United States assistant attorney general, gave an address on "Citizenship." The new secretary of labor, the Hon. Frances Perkins, gave an interesting address. Representatives from the D. A. R. approved school also participated.

In addition to the two ladies going from here, the Lawrence chapter had five members in Washington who attended.

The complete report will be given Lawrence chapter members at their meeting on Saturday, May 6.

METHODIST WOMEN PLAN FOR BANQUET
The annual mother-daughter banquet of the First Methodist church has been arranged for Friday May 5, at 6:30 in the church dining room.

An interesting program is being arranged by Mrs. W. A. Myers and the Queen Esther Auxiliary. Mrs. Richard Sloan, president, will plan the banquet menu.

Reservations are being made by Mrs. Fred Harlan and Mrs. Frank McArthur.

Party For Teacher
Miss Harriet Ewing, teacher of a class of girls at the First United Presbyterian church, was given a pleasant surprise party Friday evening when the girls of her class assembled at the home of Miss Luella McBride, Boyles avenue, for a farewell party, as Miss Ewing is leaving the class.

Games and music featured the evening and Miss Ewing was presented with a gift from the girls.

Mrs. McBride and daughter, Mary, served a dainty menu of refreshments to the group at the close of the evening. Those in attendance were Luella McBride, Virginia McBride, Rebecca Samuels, Sophia Buchner, Estella Houg, Marie Galbreath, Betty Outwright, Mary Gaston, Margaret Bredin and the honored one, Miss Ewing.

Tureen Supper.
The members of the Women's Missionary society of St. John's Lutheran church will entertain the members of the Katharine Von Bora Missionary society at a tureen supper in the church dining room Tuesday evening at 6:30.

Mrs. Emory Wolf has arranged an attractive program for the evening and Mrs. John Baer and her committee will be in charge of the dinner.

Baldwin Class.
The members of the Baldwin Bible class of the Highland U. P. church will have their monthly business and social meeting Tuesday evening in their class room.

An interesting program has been arranged and hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Ray Rhodes, Mrs. Tom Lindsey, Mrs. H. Miller, Mrs. J. E. Rumbaugh and Mrs. H. Halley.

Young Menarhs Meet
Sunday, the Young Menarhs met at Beth Shalom for the weekly meeting, with Miss Ruth Klivans presiding.

Telephone, entertainment and educational committees were appointed and plans were made for a picnic in May.

Full A Fun Club
Miss Katherine Eve, Superior St. will entertain the members of the Full A Fun Club in her home Tuesday evening.

LAW FOR AUTOMOBILISTS

EFFECTUAL statutory regulations of motor vehicle traffic is admittedly a difficult problem. But as it engages the attention of lawmakers and the public in virtually all states it may be assumed that in time a satisfactory solution will be found. One recent suggestion is that the federal government take over the general control of automobile operation, paying to the several states their due proportion of fees collected based on the number of machines owned within their respective borders.

It is argued that touring and the reciprocal recognition of one state's license by other states makes the automobile an interstate vehicle and that congress therefore reasonably may assume jurisdiction over them all. Whatever merit there may be in this, it is outweighed by other considerations. Further extension of federal jurisdiction over matters that are peculiarly within the police powers of the states is undesirable. But the most serious objection is that there is no ground for belief that congress is capable of making more satisfactory regulations for the country as a whole than the states can make each one for itself.

The law that will be truly protective must have for its object preventing unqualified persons from operating automobiles. Is it impossible to draft such a measure?

AN INTERESTING EXPERIMENT

Widespread interest will be shown in the work which a group of Pittsburgh scientists are now conducting.

They have perfected a set of chemical sprays with which they will remove from evergreen trees the "winter overcoat" of Pittsburgh soot.

Plants treated with the newly developed cleaning agents and those left untreated will be compared later for seasonal growth, with the scientists contending that a vast difference will be noticeable as the result of the cleaning.

Not only a thorough cleaning will occur from the spraying, but the workers hope, also, to uncover additional facts of value to farmers and milk producers.

The country's "smoky cities" should benefit largely from any such move.

SAFETY ON THE RAILS

Not a single paying passenger was killed on an American steam railroad in the year 1932, a record of safety believed to be unique in railroad history. The one passenger fatality of the year was a railroad employee off duty, riding "dead head" in a motor passenger car which was in collision with a train.

The record of not a single passenger fatality in 1932 compares with 1931, when four passengers were killed in train accidents, that having been the best previous year. There were seven passenger fatalities in 1930.

The one passenger killed in 1932 compares with 480,000,000 carried. Against this ratio of one to 480,000,000, there was in 1931 one fatality for every 149,807,000 passengers carried; and in 1930, one for every 101,141,000 passengers carried. Passengers injured in train accidents last year numbered 410, a low record, as compared with 493 in 1931.

Railroad travel has reached almost the ultimate of safety the records show.

A SHOPPERS' CREED FOR HOUSEWIVES

The General Federation of Women's clubs made a study of wise spending and as a result formulated a creed for housewives. Among other things it advises the women to govern buying so that waste will be reduced and to consider suitability and durability as well as price.

When it comes to shopping the average man will have to confess that woman is his superior. Woman does exert, as the creed states, a vital influence upon today's economic order. And she has more opportunity now than ever before to exercise the art of spending wisely. That is, she can get more for her money. Local merchants offer values that never have been exceeded in the history of this city. Any woman will tell you that is a fact. This is an ideal time to spend wisely, which means taking advantage of the low prices for high quality. Spring is here and with it comes the annual urge, so hateful to men, that generates in women the irresistible impulse to clean house. And every woman, gripped by the flurry of house cleaning, mentally pictures many articles which she believes would add to the attractiveness of her home, inside and out. That is part of the house cleaning process, and conditions which are not to the advantage of the merchants, are providing exceptional opportunities for women to satisfy the longing for new things.

MONEY VS. FAME

The death in poverty of the inventor of the machine that brought fortunes for the promoting capitalists is a universal and eternal theme. Unpractical genius has furnished plots for countless melodramas and endless fiction. The average person can work himself up to a high state of righteous indignation over real or imaginary instances where the inventor has not reaped the rich harvest of his genius.

The belief is quite general that it is commonplace in the history of invention for inventors to fail to profit because of their lack of business sense. One famous instance is the telephone, although Bell's claim to the patent rights were upheld by the courts. It is natural for a sentimental society to side with the complaining inventor in such cases, in spite of the fact that pretenders and impostors have been known to have accused the rightful inventors of this sort of pirating.

What applies to invention is equally applicable to other fields of creative genius. There is the story of Benjamin R. Hanby, who as a student 60 years ago composed the popular song, "Darling Nellie Gray," sung by one generation from coast to coast and still among the old favorites. He sent the song to a Boston publisher. Receiving no reply from the publisher he assumed his composition had been rejected. Sometime later, learning his song had been published and ascribed to his authorship, he wrote to the publisher for his royalties. The publisher wrote in reply:

"We have made the money and you the fame. That balances the account."

There are good reasons to believe that song writers and inventors today are as well served in business methods as their publishers and financiers.

"Abolishing special privilege" means taking it from one group and giving it to another.

How unfortunate that the lively stable loafer died before his kind of talk was recognized as realism.

LITTLE GIRL IN A TUB

One of the nicest things to see in this world is a little girl in a bathtub having her hair washed by her mother.

She's like a baby seal then, all sleek and shining and wriggly, with water streaming down her slim little body and the high-lights all over it. And when she smiles, all drippy and naked, she's a sweet thing to be seeing.

She ducks her head under the water and she comes up; it's all tangled. . . . Then you can see the shape of her head, too, with her hair clinging so closely to it and every angle of it showing the same line of her forehead so plain. . . . And then she "soaps it good."

She rubs it and rubs it and makes a fine lather and soon it is white all over like Santa Claus and the soap stands out on her head like beaten white of egg. . . . Put back your head, says her mother to her, and she leans way back and waits for her mother to pour a pitcher of rinsing water over. . . . She shuts her eyes, but she opens them too soon and some soap gets into them and she whimpers a little and reaches out blindly for a clean wash rag and rubs the soap away and then she is happy again. But she didn't really cry. She's a big girl and she doesn't cry over such little things as that.

Mother rinses her hair again with soapy water and then with clean water that has a little lemon juice in it—that's to make it shine—and then all clean and sweet she gets out of the tub and stands on the mat and shivers just a little while mother rubs her with a rough towel. (It's not to have, drying a laughing, wet youngster with a big towel.)

And then she ties a clean handkerchief carefully over her head and washes her teeth and goes out to the living room and reads in her book and when her mother tells her it's time she goes sweetly off to her room and goes right straight to bed and right straight to sleep. They're always such good children after they've had their hair washed.

Home Mortgage Plan Placed Among Costly Enterprises

Method Of Handling This Form Of Relief Needs Great Care, Government Is Advised, While Value Of Legislation Is Widely Recognized

It is testified that many home owners of the country are in need of the relief that would be provided under President Roosevelt's plan for mortgage aid in connection with such ownership. It is also estimated that there is a possibility of the expenditure of large amounts on such relief, and the success is believed to be dependent on the approach to the individual cases, and the caution shown by the government officials in charge.

"The president's program of economic and social restoration," in the opinion of the CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST, "has come none too soon to the security of the small owner of a home, in his possession of this essential to the family life upon which our whole scheme of society is based." The Evening Post states that the measure "seems sound enough, and will prove greatly beneficial, provided it is so administered as to extend assistance only to those who are actually staggering under mortgages or are about to lose their property."

"It is possible that the whole plan will stimulate considerable re-financing without recourse to government aid," thinks the OAKLAND TRIBUNE, with an explanation of the plan. "The main item offering relief is that which provides for the exchange of mortgages for the federal bonds at four per cent interest. The investor whose money is in mortgages about which he may have reason to be doubtful, thus will have bonds the interest of which is guaranteed by the federal treasury. The home owner will be refinanced, starting off new, and with a lower interest rate, five per cent, in addition to a protective provision which permits him, in cases of extreme need, to postpone both interest and principal payments. It would seem obvious that there will be a great number of persons in both cases who will eagerly accept the opportunity."

"Its simplicity and its soundness are its great virtues," advises the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION, while the CLEVELAND NEWS believes that "it should relieve the wage earner of the worry incident to the possible loss of his home, through layoffs or curtailed income." The TOPEKA DAILY CAPITAL calls it "an experiment worth undertaking," while the NASHVILLE BANNER sees reason for the system because "many owners negotiated loans four or five years ago, before the depression began and find themselves in difficulty." The PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL concedes that "new plans for national policy amaze and startle many an ultra-conservative but change is ordained as a part of destiny."

"It is planned," according to the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "to set up a system of federal savings and loan associations for financing home building in communities not now provided adequately with such facilities. How far the government should go along that line, however, is a question, desirable as it is to have a nation of home owners. Another serious question is involved. If it is planned to have two billions of bonds issued for the aid of home owners and another two billions of bonds for the farm owners, and, as it is proposed, four or five billions of bonds for a public works program, and all of these bonds are to be tax free, the already huge total of tax-free government bonds issued by this country will be augmented by nearly $10,000,000,000." The Evening Star adds that "it is time to call a halt to all such tax exemptions."

Reduction of the mortgage burden where it is beyond the power of the mortgagor to carry it," says the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BELL. "LETIN," is generally approved, but the procedure ought to have careful consideration." The Bulletin also points to the existence of building and loan organizations, buttressed by the Federal Home Loan banks, and suggests that "it is not clear that there is greater service under the new plan than might be had through the perfected operation of the old." The SIOUX FALLS JOURNAL-HERALD declares that "the GUS-LEADER of the United States treasury is not inexhaustible and it can be strained to the breaking point." The SALT LAKE DESERTER NEWS sees the danger of "socializing the farm and home mortgage investment field." This view is taken also by the LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL, while the PORT HURON TIMES-HERALD emphasizes the fact that "this is a purely emergency and temporary measure." The FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM agrees that "the wage earner struggling to cling to an equity in a home is one of the most worthy objects of relief anywhere on the economic horizon," but adds that "under millions of such circumstances, the problem is appalling."

"There will be substantial unanimity in the country in support of the purpose," states the SPOKANE SPOKESMAN-REVIEW, "but with considerable division as to the plan of approach." The TOLEDO BLADE feels that "it will be up to the federal agents who make the loans and the appraisals to exercise good judgment and to discriminate." The AKRON BEACON JOURNAL argues that "depositors" and stockholders in private building and loan associations will hardly be benefitted by government competition." The ABILENE REPORTER advises that "to be effective, the plan must be very simple and capable of being worked at high speed." The LOWELL EVENING LEADER holds that there has been approach to "agencies designed to protect us from what were formerly regarded as the risks we must take on our own responsibility," he CHICAGO DAILY NEWS concludes. "To make the refunding of mortgages available to even the minority of distressed home owners, two amendments of the plan appear to be advisable. The $10,000 limitation will might be applied to mortgages instead of to the total value of the mortgaged property, and amortization of the principal of mortgages should be extended over a considerably longer period of years."

"Eighteen per cent were ex-servicemen who maintained the camp in military order. In spite of the meager pay, the men were happy and contented, at least being assured of enough to eat in contrast with near-destitution most of them had experienced."

GOOD WILL AT HOME
It is foolish to retire while angry or out of sorts with any member of your household. It means that you will have difficulty in getting to sleep and perhaps the night will be wakeful. If a quarrel takes place in the evening, come to some sensible agreement and then compose yourself before you go to bed.

Usually as a result of a restless night you get up in a belligerent mood in the morning. The little family disagreement of the night before becomes a serious morning quarrel.

That means the whole day is spoiled and to what end? It is easy in most any home life to reach a condition when it does not take much to set off oral fireworks, but you don't gain a thing an lose your own as well as the other fellow's respect for you.

Life is too short to mar it with unnecessary mental disturbances. There are enough of the kind for which we are not responsible. It is not difficult to create a spirit of good fellowship in a home and an atmosphere of good will, but the will to make things happy must exist.

Have a little good sense and self-control and see the other's side.

RICHES
He who has gold has little to hold But he with a friend or two Has treasures which shall make him rich His whole long lifetime through.

He who has fame its joys may claim 'Til a clever man shall rise, But he who is kind shall friendship find 'Til death shall shut his eyes.

He who has land may respect command 'Til change shall his fortune steal, But the man with a friend to his journey's end Has something whose worth is real.

He who has power in one short swift hour To a stronger man may fall, But who has stayed true to the best Has wealth that surpasseth all. (Copyright, 1933, Edgar A. Guest)

President's Plan May Be Felt Here

Roosevelt Effort To Retire 30-Year Federal Men Ready For Congress

Eight post office positions here would be eliminated by next October 1 if President Roosevelt's proposed economy plan whereby employees in the federal service for 30 years would be immediately pensioned regardless of their age, it is learned.

From Washington it is reported that Congress will soon give consideration to the president's program.

The economy proposal, a part of the drastic drive to reduce federal expenditures, provides that the president may cancel or modify any contract to which the government is a party, that he may retire all employees who have had 30 years of federal service, that he may furnish army officers, and that he may raise charges for government services or articles.

The plan, it is understood, would be to vacate those positions for good. It would not mean replacements would be made.

Later on the consolidation of at least one Lawrence county rural mail route will be required, providing congress grants the power the president asks.

New Castle Man Given Rights On Heat Exchanger Invention

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 24.—The United States patent office has just awarded to Charles A. Crowl of New Castle the patent rights on a heat exchanger invented by the New Castle man.

Mr. Crowl applied for the rights on his patent June 10, 1932. He has been allowed protection on two novel features of the heat exchanger and has assigned his rights to Stewart P. Foltz of New Castle.

The patent office describes the invention as: A heat exchanger comprising a plurality of inter-changeable double-walled fluid conducting elements having integral rims projecting outwardly from the walls connected end to end, each of said elements being provided with a conduit through it and a plurality of apertures in its walls and forming with the other elements two parallel intertwining zigzag fluid passages, one of said passages being disposed in said elements and the other between them, and means for delivering fluids to and discharging them from the respective passages.

Balances Alleged On School Work

Two Suits Are Filed By Citizens Lumber Company Against Lusk Bondsman

The School District of Bessemer, one of the Citizens Lumber Company of this city, has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against the Fidelity Deposit Company of Baltimore, Md. In 1929 the Bessemer school district erected an addition to the school building. George W. Lusk of this city was the contractor. He was bonded by the Fidelity Company. The Citizens Lumber Company claims that there is a balance due the company of $560.08 which Mr. Lusk has refused to pay, hence suit is brought against his bondsman.

A similar suit has been filed in behalf of the Citizens Lumber Company against the Fidelity Company for $1,163.59, which it is claimed is due on a contract for work at the Scotland Consolidated School in Union township. Mr. Lusk had the contract for this work and has refused to pay the bill, according to the statement of claim. Mr. Lusk will file his answer later in which he will tell why he has refused to pay.

EJECTMENT SUIT FILED
Joseph Heaney executor of the late Edward J. O'Brien, has filed an action in ejectment at the prothonotary's office against John R. and Nellie E. Fortney to secure possession of a tract of land in Shenango township.

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, April 24.—The Gertrude L. Thebaud, speed champion of the Grand Banks, creaked at her hawser in the capital navy yard today as her crew of Atlantic fishing skippers trembled at the thought of keeping an engagement with Mrs. Roosevelt at the White House.

Concerning the purpose of their visit, a hearing before the tariff commission for protection against Japanese and Canadian imports, the sailormen felt more at ease, following an impromptu session with President Roosevelt himself.

Presented With Fish. Hearing of the arrival of the Gloucester fishing schooner, the president, who had just returned from his Potomac river trip, left the White House and stood at the navy yard docks as the schooner docked. A 30-pound halibut freshly caught from the banks, was presented to the president.

Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Ishbel MacDonald, daughter of Britain's prime minister, went over the Thebaud's side and inspected her from stem to stern, escorted by Capt. Ben Pine, who captained her the times she defeated the Canadian cham-

Three Men And Three Women Questioned In Death Of Pittsburgh Domestic

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, April 24.—Arrested in an Allison Park speakeasy, three men and three women today were being grilled as alleged confederates of L. L. Corey, a suspect in the murder of Hilda Lindberg, whose battered body was found in a suburban alley three weeks ago. Police reported that two of the men arrested had confessed to robbing a gasoline station here Saturday night.

Searching Corey's room, following his arrest, detectives announced they had found scores of love letters written by women in all parts of the country, stock certificates, and women's clothing.

He will be questioned further today in connection with the death of Miss Lindberg and recent robberies.

House Committee Plans For Drive For Enactment Of 30-Hour Week Work Bill

NOTABLE FIGURES WILL BE CALLED

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, April 24.—With American industry divided into conflicting camps and labor's attitude uncertain, the House labor committee today prepared for the opening tomorrow of a drive for enactment of the Black 30-hour week bill as rewritten by Secretary of Labor Perkins.

Some of the most notable figures in the nation's industrial life are expected to come before the committee endorsing the principle, according to word received by Representative Connery (D) of Massachusetts, chairman.

Vigorous Protests. The spokesmen for thousands of manufacturing plants, however, including many small manufacturers, have registered vigorous protests against the minimum wage and limitation of production proposals.

Organized labor, through President William Green of the American Federation, is standing firmly behind the 30-hour week principle, but labor leaders are divided over the recommendations of Miss Perkins and the proposal to bring foreign imports under the measure.

The council of the A. F. of L. called to discuss the Perkins suggestion, was expected to reach an agreement today after having been sidetracked for a study of inflation. Many labor organizations not affiliated with the Federation, including the more radical groups and the railroad brotherhoods, are said to favor the bill.

MAYOR'S RELIEF WORK MAY HALT AT END OF WEEK

decided change no men will go to work Monday.

Protest To Governor. After council convened Councilman Davies brought up the notification from the company relating to the raise and suggested each city affected send representatives to Harrisburg to place the matter squarely before Governor Pinchot.

Solicitor White informed Davies the workmen's compensation board has nothing to do with the rates which were set by an insurance board which is not a governmental body.

"How are we going to feed the people? The work is given out so people can secure food," Treser declared.

"Monessen is closing down on such employment," Davies declared. "And what is it starting?" Treser inquired.

"I think it is terrible. A state law can be passed to take care of this but you cannot pass a law for these workmen to waive compensation," White declared.

Solicitor White informed Hoyland that he is not quite so sure the state rate is the same as the rates now applicable here.

"What is the course of the trouble?" Genkinger queried White.

Solicitor White said the board of underwriters set the rate. The act of assembly provides the rate must be uniform.

"How are we going to get an adjustment?" Genkinger asked. "I would follow the suggestions I made in my letter Saturday. I have found that when insurance companies want to sell insurance they can generally find a scheme to do it."

"White replied, 'The city is receiving the benefit of this work. The work is given the men so they can obtain food.' Treser said.

Taken Up With Harrisburgh. Councilman Hoyland told colleagues Quincy McBride of the insurance firm of McBride and Shannon was willing to be questioned. At this point Mayor Mayne said that Rev. G. S. Bennett, head of the relief association had taken the question up with officials at Harrisburgh and "I told him we would try to pass this over until Friday, by which time he may have some information for us."

"From the day the company presents an endorsement to the policy you will have to pay $1 per man each week," White advised council.

Treser explained that 50 men were put to work on city projects today. White told Treser that the city would have to pay $50 insurance for the 50 men.

White explained the men cannot be "staggered" after which Davies said he was not ready to vote on cancellation of the policy as he wanted to know about it.

"I would do away with it (meaning the employment)," said White. "Put the responsibility where it belongs. The city council is not responsible."

He pointed out the city wants to aid the idle but has no money to pay the extra dollar per man each week and declared:

"That is tribute." "That is tribute. Tribute in millions of dollars but no payment of tribute. This is the limit! Put the responsibility where it belongs. People do not want you to pay tribute. You will have to pay for this week anyway. You must give 10 days' notice in order to cancel the contract," he stated.

"What is going to happen to these poor men?" asked Treser. "The way taxes are coming in we will have to eliminate a lot of things," Mr. Hoyland, director of finance, warned.

Quincy McBride of McBride & Shannon was called to the councilmanic table and he said:

"Our company is not in sympathy with this rate (meaning the increase in rates). Our company believes it is ridiculous. Cancellation can be made."

Mr. McBride then said that "no insurance company is anxious for workmen's compensation. It is an accommodation. Lots of companies refuse to write it."

Next, he said that "as far as the city's liability of employees, it cannot be done. Any insurance company which takes it up stands in the shoes of the city."

He suggested that the only way for the city to escape paying the premium is for the city to assume its own risk.

Relative to the indorsement retroactive term, Mr. McBride said "that is placed there at the command of the state. It is a standard rule."

He said that "I do not know what effect there would be if the council refused to accept the indorsement." He said some cities had refused to accept it and the matter is being fought out.

McBride said the rates after being made are inspected and approved by state insurance commissioner.

"What would it cost the city to carry its own liability?" Genkinger asked McBride.

"Nothing or plenty," McBride explained, meaning there could be many injuries.

White told the councilmen the rating bureau makes the rates and all companies subscribe to it.

Council next passed a motion offered by Hoyland which was to the effect the city refused to accept the indorsement to the insurance policy in regard to the rate being made retroactive. It passed.

The solons then said they would look forward to Rev. G. S. Bennett, having some information by the time the next session is held Friday as the head of the Lawrence County Relief association had told the mayor or he is communicating with state officials.

Councilman Treser asked what he should do relative to calling men to work on city relief work.

He was told not to call any more this week but instead let the 50 men for whom the city must now pay $1 each continue to work during the rest of the week.

Treser indicated no men would be called next Monday unless there is a big change.

SCOUTMEN TO ELECT AT SESSION TONIGHT

The regular monthly meeting of the Headquarters' troop will be held this evening at the Croton M. E. church, home of Troop 6, with Scoutmaster John Wilson as host.

Dr. Lutz, acting club president, is asking for a full attendance; as the annual election of officers, coming camp season matters, and other things important to scout leaders, will be brought up. The meeting is called for 7:45 o'clock; the troop lining up at 8 sharp. Scout leaders are also invited to bring prospective members or men interested in scout troop leadership. It is possible that special program numbers will be put on tonight.

To protect garden plants from cold until danger of frost is past, glazed paper caps reinforced with wires have been devised.

Teachers Will Again Meet Here

Facilities In New Castle Result In Decision To Convene Here

MEETING DATES SET IN OCTOBER

New Castle has been selected for the second annual convention of the Mid-Western Section of the Pennsylvania State Educational Association, it was announced today by Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of New Castle schools. The decision was arrived at, when a meeting of the executive committee was held in the office of Dr. Green. The dates of the convention are set for October 27-28.

The Mid-Western Section of the P. S. E. A. was organized last year and Dr. C. C. Green chosen the first president. The first convention of the organization was held in the Cathedral in February and at that time the selection of the convention site for the second convention was left to the executive committee.

After considering the various cities in the section, which is composed of Lawrence, Mercer, Beaver, Butler, Armstrong, Indiana and Jefferson counties, the executive committee decided that New Castle was the logical place for it, being centrally located and having adequate facilities.

The meeting Friday afternoon was presided over by the president, S. W. Lyons of New Brighton, and was attended by the following members, James G. Stanley of Butler, Q. V. Vincent of Ford City, Walt Whitman of New Wilmington, R. G. Walters of Grove City, John H. Hughes of Slippery Rock, E. G. Leaf of Ambbridge, and C. C. Green of New Castle.

Former Teacher Tells Of Quake

Says School And Church Is Still Being Held Out-Of-Doors At Long Beach

In a letter to Mr. and Mrs. James E. Drake, of Park avenue, their cousins, the Misses Flora and Clara MacClymonds of Long Beach, Calif., give some new lights on the recent earthquake.

Miss Clara MacClymonds, whose home was in Grove City, formerly taught in the Mahoningtown school, and is now teaching in the Long Beach schools.

Their letter written Easter Sunday follows:
Dear James and Janie:
You will have to excuse us for not writing sooner, but we are still nervous and unsettled. We have moved. When we got back from Riverside, we had to get used to the settling shocks and while our flats were not much damaged, the plaster on the cracks, the house below us and the First M. E. church next door, both have to come down, and a big apartment house on the other side has to come down, so we thought it would be noise and dirt all summer.

I only teach half days. Our school houses were most all destroyed, or at least cannot be used until made quake-proof. Most of them have to come down so they built wooden bungalows on the school grounds and we will use them. For the past two weeks, we have been teaching out of doors, under trees or umbrellas, but we hope to get into the bungalows next week. The churches and schools were hardest hit. Out of 40 schools, only two can be used, and they will have to be made quake proof. It will be several years before we are in school houses again.

You might be interested in the U. S. government report which was on our bulletin board the other day. Our quake lasted eleven seconds and the movements were 2½ feet up, 8 feet north, 3½ feet south, so we are now 2½ feet further north than we were before the quake. There were 1,500 separate and distinct shocks in ten days. The San Francisco quake in 1906 took 92 minutes but was just 2.5 degrees in intensity. The Santa Barbara quake in 1925 lasted 13 seconds and was 3.4 degrees of intensity, while the Long Beach quake was 4.6 degrees so was a worse quake, but did not last as long.

There have been no services in the churches as yet. All are held in tents or in parks. We have no theaters open either. Our city is really about shut up or down. The stores are partly open, but repairs are going on everywhere and the walks are built over for protection.

TREES CO-OPERATE IN GROWING FRUIT CROPS

Experience has been a costly teacher in showing many apple growers the importance of proper cross-pollination.

While a few varieties will sometimes set a satisfactory crop with their own pollen, the set on any variety will be improved, at least in some seasons, by cross pollination with a good pollinizer. Some varieties, like Stayman and Delicious, rather consistently refuse to set more than a few scattered fruits unless their blossoms are cross-pollinated with a good variety.

Recent experiences and investigations have shown that each tree should be either adjacent to or at most not more than one tree removed from a tree of a variety which is known to be a good pollinizer for it. In planting one should not set more than four rows solidly to one variety; and it is considered much safer to limit this to two rows with pollinizers on each side. While this would not be necessary in years when the blossoming season is favored with bright, warm weather without wind, it may make the difference between a full crop and a light one in seasons of opposite weather conditions.

While the pollination problem is most readily solved by a judicious arrangement of varieties at planting time, many growers have not anticipated the difficulty and are top-working part of the trees to supply satisfactory pollen to the remainder. Thus, if every third tree in every third row were top-worked this should adequately provide for cross-pollination.

Since these seasons require several years to start to blossom, a number of growers are using flowering bouquets in the orchard each spring as a temporary solution of the problem until the grafted trees begin to bloom. In some Pennsylvania orchards the yield has been increased as much as four times through this means.

In general, a variety which is a good pollinizer for one sort of apple is good for all other sorts, provided the blossoming season overlaps by several days. Some varieties, like Stayman, Paragon and Winesap, are practically worthless on any variety. Ben Davis, Gano, Fameuse, Transparent, Dutchess, York, Jonathan, Wealthy and Cortland are good pollinizers for Delicious. For Stayman use pollen of Grimes, Delicious, Rome, York, McIntosh or Transparent. Delicious, Jonathan, Gano and Grimes are good pollinizers for Paragon. McIntosh sets well with pollen of Cortland, Delicious, York, Dutchess, Transparent and Twenty Ounce.

Growers who suspect that this problem is limiting yields in their orchards can receive help from the Extension Association in planning a satisfactory method of attack. Quick action will be necessary to bring through a crop this season.

START VINES TO BE USED LATER IN FLOWER BOXES

Some of the popular vines for use in flower boxes are German Ivy, Kennelworth Ivy, Periwinkle, Ageratum, Spengeri and Cobaea Scandiana.

Of the trailing types the following are universally used: Trailing Colons, Lobelia and Ageratum. The seeds of the following flower plants can be sown at this time for later use in winter boxes: Ageratum, Giant Bedding Snapdragon, Begonia, Colons, Heliotrope, Lantana, Lobelia, Morning Glory, Dwarf Nasturtium, Petunia, Phlox Drummondii and Verbena. Small plants of Geraniums, in variety can be started from cuttings placed in sand and transplanted after roots have developed into small pots for later planting in the flower box.

PLANT GARDEN PEAS EARLY TO GET GOOD CROP

Almost every gardener plants a few rows of peas for home use. On account of the high quality of this vegetable when fresh, many market gardeners grow this for local trade.

Peas are a cool season crop requiring an abundance of moisture, but a well drained soil. The early planted peas will give a larger yield, have higher quality and will grow better. One and one-half to two inches is deep enough to plant peas. This is better than planting in a trench. Fertilizer will improve yields. Stable manure is beneficial but should be supplemented with superphosphate or a complete fertilizer, such as 4-12-4.

To obtain peas over a long season plant early, midseason and late varieties all at the same time. Good ones are Laxton's Superb for the market, and for the home garden as well as the market. Laxton's Progress, Stratagem, Onward or Pot-latch, and Dwarf or Tall Telephone. When successive plantings are made decreasing yields result from the later plantings. The later planted varieties also tend to mature in a shorter time than those planted earlier.

USE SPRING GREENS TO PEP UP JADED HUMANS

Greens not only make the dinner or supper table look more attractive but they are good to eat, reminds Miss Eleanor Drury, home economics extension representative for Lawrence county.

That appetizing dish of dandelion greens, young shoots of the wild poke, the cowslip or marsh marigold, water cress and other wild greens growing in the fields now just strikes the spot with the coming of warm, sunny spring days.

Formerly greens were considered valuable for the minerals, lime and iron which they contained. Now vitamins are added to the contribution they make to proper human nutrition.

Greens contain iron for making blood, lime and phosphorus for building strong bones and teeth, and vitamin A which is necessary to health for all ages and to protect the body against respiratory infection. The greener the leaves the more vitamin A they contain. Greens also contain vitamins B and C which stimulate the appetite and are necessary for proper functioning of the digestive tract.

Spring greens can be served both raw and cooked. They should be cooked, however, so that they retain the minerals and vitamins. This is accomplished by cooking in a small quantity of rapidly boiling salted water without a cover for as short a time as possible to make the greens tender. Dandelion greens need no cooking water except that which clings to the leaves after washing. Cooking without a cover will help to keep the green color. When cooked with meat, the greens should be put in the water after the meat has been cooked.

All in quest of that pepped-up spring feeling can obtain it by eating a variety of the wild greens available now, declares Miss Drury.

Not Drafting Men For Forest Duty

Government Will Expect All To Serve Six Months, Dr. Bennett Says

Under no condition is Uncle Sam drafting unemployed men for duty with President Roosevelt's Emergency Conservation corps, but all who do enroll after being accepted must give six months of service, Dr. G. S. Bennett, chairman of the Lawrence County Emergency Relief board was informed in a letter Saturday.

From Lawrence county 184 men are expected to go. This definite number was announced by the State Emergency Relief board at Harrisburg.

A "committee on selection" which Chairman Bennett named was determining today who of the hundreds who have applied are eligible to receive consideration when time for selection comes.

Dr. Bennett said workers must assign back to their families $25 of the $30 monthly stipend which they will receive from the government. At first it was thought $20 would be what they would return.

Local foresters will likely not be called to recruiting stations for several weeks yet.

Company To Raise Rails And Brick

Will Probably Eliminate Washington Street Water Nuisance

Officials of the New Castle Street Electric Railway Company have notified Councilman Treser that soon the company will elevate their rails and brick in the vicinity of East Washington and Adams street which it is believed will eliminate a water nuisance which occurs following each rainstorm. The decision came following a conference between T. C. Moore, superintendent of the company, Councilman Treser and state highway department officials. The rails and brick on the company's portion of the street will be raised about two and one half inches.

BEER CONTROL BILL IN LEGISLATIVE FOREFRONT

Beer Taxation And Control To Get Attention

State Assembly Will Take Up Final Consideration Of Beer Question

SLIGHT HITCH IN PROPOSED PLANS

County Treasurers Oppose Issuing Licenses Without Provision For Fees

By ROBERT F. GORMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, April 24—Control and taxation of beer will be in the forefront of legislative activities again this week.

Both the house and the senate will attempt to settle differences existing between various political factions when they reconvene tonight and before the end of the week there is a possibility that the Statute books will contain provisions for the raising of revenue from the sale of beer.

On First Hearing

The administration taxation bill will appear on the first reading calendar of the house tonight and tomorrow it will be given second reading after which it is possible it may be returned to the committee for some further amendments regarding the method of revenue collection.

While the house is debating the revenue raiser, the senate will be kept busy with the control bill sponsored by Senator John J. McClure, Delaware. The bill was passed on second reading Friday and then sent back to committee for amendments. If it is returned to the senate tonight, a program arrangement, the measure will be acted upon finally by that body tomorrow. The control bill in many respects follows the lines of the Sowers-Connor bill vetoed by the governor but it also includes the governor's suggestion that county treasurers be designated as the licensing agents. The vetoed bill provided that the county courts license the retailers.

Opposition Heard
A new angle was injected when word reached here that county treasurers are now opposed to passage of the McClure control bill because it makes no provision for fees for these county officers. Conference on the control bill will be held before the senate meets tonight in an effort to reach agreements which will permit the bill to be reported from committee for final action tomorrow.

Unemployment relief will be another of the major issues to receive attention during the week and discussions on this matter will begin this afternoon. House and senate leaders together with party leaders will meet with Gov. Gifford Pinchot to go over the situation in the hope that agreements can be reached on methods for raising the money. Auditor General Charles A. Waters who next month becomes state treasurer, will present a plan for relief which he has been developing during the past week.

Relief Bill

The house tonight will act on the Scott Senate bill appropriating $13,000,000 for unemployment relief during the biennium beginning June 1. A sum which will bring the total of such appropriations this session up to $20,000,000.

The present week is expected to see the end of the discussions on Sunday sports which has been occupying a front page position through the entire session. The bill was recalled from the governor in a resolution last week and it will be received by the house probably tonight. The governor was of the opinion that some amendments should be added but these are covered in other legislation, the attorney general advised him. Accordingly, no amendments will be made and the bill will be returned soon after it is received in the house. The governor has stated that he will act on the bill within five minutes after it reaches his desk.

Adjournment Hope Slim
Prospects for final adjournment this week grew slim when leaders summed up pending legislation. Various parts of the general appropriation bill must be reconstructed and it is possible that a last minute change will be made in hospital appropriations to conform with the wishes of the governor. The two houses have passed separate bills for the various hospitals receiving state aid and governor Pinchot is insistent that the appropriations be made to the department of welfare on the per diem basis of free service as was done in 1931. The opinion was expressed on the hill today that an omnibus bill would be prepared.

Bill Made Ready
The report of the conference committee rewriting the McClure bill providing for the election of fifteen delegates at large to act on ratification or rejection of the proposal to repeal the eighteenth amendment will probably be ready for presentation in the senate tonight. Printing errors, it was stated, were responsible for the bill's being sent to the committee.

In the house tonight the Woodward bill to put a stop to party raiding will be called on a special order of business. The bill would prohibit persons from accepting the nomination of more than one party.

Good Coal Vein On New County Field

Mark Butler, in charge of county coal field operations at mines east of town, reports that there are at present 121 men at work. Stripping has been removed from a good section of the lately acquired coal property. The coal vein under it is 18 inches thick, which is much thicker than the vein on the lands which have already been worked.

McKinney Bible Class Visits At Baptist Church

Presbyterian Bible Class Goes To Men's Bible Class At Baptist Church

Members of the McKinney Bible class of the First Presbyterian Sabbath school were the guests of the Men's Bible school at the First Baptist church Sunday morning, the joint class being taught by the Baptist pastor, the Rev. Charles Heaton.

The membership of the combined class was 330, the visiting class having 105 present. On Sunday, May 7, the Baptist class will pay a return visit to the McKinney class.

An interesting musical program was led by W. O. Williams; Charles Sheerer, president of the McKinney class, made the prayer and the teacher, W. H. Butler, read the Scripture lesson.

A unique feature of the assembly was the forming of the pictures of Rev. Heaton and Mr. Butler, the two teachers. The pictures had been cut in jig-saw fashion and the pieces given out a week ago. Yesterday the pieces were collected and put together and the pictures given to the teachers.

Yeggs Haul Empty Safe For 20 Miles

SHARON, Pa., April 24.—After hauling a stolen safe for more than 20 miles, industrious yeggs cracked the strongbox and discovered it was empty.

The safe was taken from the office of I. E. Helfman, wholesale produce dealer, Railroad street, and was transported on a truck stolen from the Helfman warehouse.

The thieves drove through Youngstown, O., where they picked up another safe. Both were taken to the outskirts of that city, where they were "drifted" open. The one stolen in Youngstown contained $100. Helfman's truck was abandoned where the safes were opened and was returned to him this afternoon.

Getting Ready For Garden At Co. Home

In order that the land at the county home may be put in first class shape for gardening this summer, the county commissioners have decided to purchase enough to fertilize the entire tract this spring. There is plenty of help at the home to till the tract.

NEW GALILEE

Mrs. L. W. Pick is confined to her home by illness.

The Nazarene congregation will hold their mid-week prayer meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Davidson, Enon Valley.

The ladies' auxiliary of the Beaver county children's home held their April meeting at the home of Miss Anna McHattie. A fine lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

The home of Samuel Sherlock of the Wampum road, near New Galilee, burned to the ground Thursday night with all the furniture during the absence of Mr. Sherlock.

HARLANSBURG

MISSIONARY MEETING
Mrs. Hattie Shoaff of Harlansburg received the U. P. Missionary Society of Plaingrove Thursday afternoon. The subject was Stewardship. The leader, Mrs. Jennie Blevins, opened the meeting by reading the 16th chapter of Luke and a poem, "Stewardship." Reviewing the Stewardship was read and commented on by Mrs. Mae Peebles. "Stewardship Finding Its Place" by Margaret Peebles.

"How Much Owest Thou, My Lord" by Mrs. Jennie Blevins. The programs for the year have been made out. The old officers were all re-elected except the Thank Offering superintendent and Mrs. Claribel Foster will take the place of Mrs. Jennie Minnich. Mrs. Hattie Shoaff and Mrs. Madge Miller were appointed Junior superintendents. There will be no refreshments served at the regular meetings this year.

There were eight members and three guests present. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Clara Seth, Thursday afternoon, May 18th with Mrs. Margaret Elliott as leader.

Steel Operations Holding Up Well

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 24.—Mill operations will stay at 22 percent for the first half of this week, and may go higher at mid-week, schedules posted at the Youngstown district steel plants show today.

April operations will be the highest of any month since last May, steel executives say.

Out of the 83 open hearth furnaces in the district 27 will make steel this week. There will be shifts in Bessemer plant operations, with Republic Steel suspending and Youngstown Sheet and Tube resuming operations.

Tube mill output will be considerably better, with two electric, one seamless and four butt-weld mills on part time operations during the week.

A well organized Jewish community existed in Cologne, Germany in the year of 321. They were engaged in agriculture trade and industry.

WARN AGAINST FAKE TRAVELERS CHECKS

Warning is issued by the New Castle Credit Exchange, to be on the lookout for a man named Donald Snyder, who is said to be passing fake travelers checks in this district.

He was first discovered in the Harrisburg vicinity in July 1932. He was located in St. Louis, and the police department had a detainer filed against him, but funds were lacking to send out and bring him back.

He is again reported to be cashing his checks in Western Pennsylvania under the names of Ray Bassett, Ray Bowman, W. Bower, William McClain, Robert Haley, and various others. He is reported to be driving a car with a North Carolina license plate, and is alleged to have recently cashed two checks at an oil station in Monongahela.

What a land. Rivers that wash away houses and people, and we can't find a job for the idle.

You see, beer isn't intoxicating, so we make it pay enough tax to pacify the public conscience.

MEET TUESDAY ON MEMORIAL DAY PLAN

Members of the Memorial Day committee, representing the various veterans and patriotic organizations of the city, will meet Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock to further plans for the coming Memorial Day celebration.

Noises are being sent out to the committee members by Secretary Potter today.

Bicycles Given Away

... One In Each Kroger Store Operated Out of Cleveland Branch

ON APRIL 24th, the Kroger Stores are giving every boy and girl an unusual opportunity to win a genuine Colson Scout Bicycle, fully equipped. Have you ever seen a Colson Scout? If you haven't, drop around to your nearest Kroger Store and look it over. It's in the window. Imagine yourself astride that saddle, gripping the long handles, your feet pushing those oversize pedals, just sailing down the avenue amidst the admiring and envious shouts of your pals. It glistens and gleams its way into your heart, and believe us it has all the "gadgets" any boy or girl ever wished a "bike" had!

It's easier than you think to win a Colson Scout Bicycle! There's going to be one for EVERY neighborhood—over 330 of them—EVERY Kroger Store is going to give one away and isn't that making it easy? Here's how you do it:

To become eligible to win this Colson Scout you just register at your nearest Kroger Store. After you have registered, the Kroger Manager, who will guide you and advise you during the contest, will give you a four-page booklet outlining down to the merest detail what you must do to win the Colson Scout.

Remember, there's no element of chance connected with this contest. It costs you nothing to enter, and nothing to complete. It is the simplest of contests!

Every time your mother, aunts or cousins, shop at a Kroger Store, have them ask for a "1-Vote" coupon on every 25c purchase they make. Sell the neighbors on the idea too. When they shop at Kroger they'll be glad to help you win a "bike." Just have them ask for the coupons they're entitled to on the amount of their purchases.

Wide-awake boys and girls who do not delay their entrance into the contest will reap a real advantage by their early action. The sooner you start accumulating these votes the more time you have to accumulate the prize winning total. Inform all your friends of your determination to win one of these big prizes—ask them to buy at Kroger, to save on their budget and save votes for you!

Go into the contest with a determination to win—don't relax for even a moment—if you do this, you're bound to be the proud possessor of a Colson "bike" when the contest ends, May 20th.

Down in the corner there's a little box that tells you what the "bike's" made of and in general, gives you a very fair idea that when we say that Colson Scout's a "beaut," we know our "Bicycles."

Register today and start right in collecting votes.

This "Bike" Is Fully Equipped

FRAME—Double bar drop frame of 1-inch seamless steel tubing. Flush type, double reinforced brazen construction. Adjustable ball bearing head. Wide, deep mud guards, secured with rugged steel braces.

WHEELS—Ball bearing spoke and nipple wheels with chromium plated, steel wood lined rims. Cadmium plated spokes.

CRANKS—One piece drop forged ball bearing, nickel plated cranks.

PEDALS—Large ball bearing rubber pedals.

HANDLE BAR—1/2-inch tubular, nickel plated motor bike extension handle bar with cross brace. Long rubber grips.

SADDLE—Trotel motor bike saddle.

TIRES—Non-slip tires.

EQUIPMENT—Coaster brake, spanner wrench, and reinforced parking stand are standard equipment on all models. In addition this model has a pressed steel tool box, luggage carrier, headlight and battery case with switch, reflector tail light and horn.

BOYS BUILD SCHOOL CABIN AND GIRLS FURNISH IT

This school cabin in the woods was built by the boys of Tower Hill school, Wilmington, Del. It was furnished by the girls. It is in charge of a special committee. It was financed by $5 bonds purchased by the majority of the pupils, and is used for picnics and as a center for nature study.

As Soviet Tried Britons on Sabotage Charges

Two scenes at the trial in Moscow of six British subjects charged with sabotage and espionage. The conviction of William H. Thornton (shown standing in prisoners' box) and four others received a two-year sentence. All eleven Russians were convicted. Inset shows the court of four judges hearing the testimony.

Where Nazis Hold Political Prisoners

His period of incarceration over, one of the political prisoners rounded up by Dictator Adolf Hitler's Nazis in the recent pre-election drive throughout Germany, is pictured as he left the concentration camp at Oranienburg, on the Havel River. Note the Nazi troopers doing guard duty with the swastika emblem displayed on their arms. Hundreds of anti-Hitlerites were confined at this camp.

Headed Towards Three R's in a Rowboat

Here's a new slant on higher education. These children, residents of Lowell, Mass., woke up one not so fine morning recently and clapped their hands with delight, thinking that several feet of water that covered the streets of the town would result in a forced vacation from school. But education, like the show, must go on, and they were ferried to school in rowboats. The overflow of the Merrimack River inundated a large area of Massachusetts, and scenes like this were common in many towns along the river.

Herriott Says Europe Ready To Co-operate

Former French Premier Declares Europe Seeks Success Of Economic Parley

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Europe is willing and prepared to co-operate for the success of the world economic conference, former Premier Edouard Herriot of France declared today.

Here to confer with President Roosevelt as the representative of France, the veteran French statesman said he believed the sentiment of Europe at present was such as to make the prospects of success hopeful.

"We succeeded at Lausanne. There is no reason why we should not succeed somewhere else," he added. "It is a question of good will."

Sidelights Questions
Asked whether he believed France would find it necessary to request a postponement of the June 15th debt payment, he said:

"I came here to answer questions, but the President will do the questioning."

He also dismissed reports that France would not be so willing to co-operate with the United States in view of its sudden abandonment of the gold standard, leaving France the only other principal world power on gold. Assuring the "unbounded co-operation" of France, he said:

"The recent events of which we heard on mid-ocean may have changed some of the technical aspects of the problems we are to discuss, but the political and moral aspects remain unchanged."

"We preserve all our armor, all our convictions. We place at the disposal of the American government and of the American people a genuine and candid desire for unbounded co-operation."

Will Eliminate 4 Mill Tax On Savings Accounts

State Legislature Passes Bill Removing "Premium On Thrift"

Savings deposits in the banks of Lawrence county will not be liable for the four mill tax for 1934 and thereafter. Under the provisions of the Einstein bill, signed by Governor Gifford Pinchot on Saturday, this act is repealed insofar as it applies to savings accounts and the potential savings in taxes to Lawrence county citizens will be about $7,000,000 in the county banks.

Heretofore all savings accounts have been taxable at four mills per $100. It was a tax that was honored more in the breach than in the observance however, for few people ever thought to return their savings totals for tax, and the county authorities made no attempt to check the matter, in any of the counties of the state.

"Tax On Thrift"
Senator Morris Einstein the sponsor of the bill characterized it as a "tax on thrift," and in addition, the neglecting to file savings totals for tax purposes made many citizens law violators unknowingly. The tax was originally a state tax and is still carried as a state tax on the cards but is actually kept in the county for county purposes.

This personal property tax by which bank deposits were taxed also includes securities but like the savings accounts, few people ever think to make a return on them. In the future they will not have to return the total of their savings.

The total of savings accounts in Lawrence county is estimated by bankers at approximately $7,000,000. This is an average per capita in the county of about $70 each.

Woman Is Found In Unconscious Condition Today

Mamie Louise Magarge, 209 North Mercer street, was found shortly after 12 o'clock today in an unconscious condition near the paper mill and second dam of the Neshannock creek by people of the district, who had noticed her walking up the tracks earlier in the morning.

The police were informed and officers rushed to the scene. They found her to be in an unconscious condition, with bruises on the head and apparently in a very serious condition. She was rushed to the Jameson Memorial hospital where at 1:30 o'clock today she was reported as remaining in the same unconscious condition.

The cause of her condition is unknown at the time of going to press, but X-ray pictures are being taken for the purpose of determining the extent of the injuries to her head and other possible causes for her condition.

CHECKS 'PLAY BALL' ON STYLE LOT

The official baseball season is on, and from every vacant lot rises the sound of the crack of ball on bat and pattering feet striving to collect "runs". On the style lot checks are "playing ball". Adrienne Ames adds this costume in black and white check to her wardrobe with a chic little jacket of black wool with silver fox trimmed shoulders. Smart to wear when attending the game.

Have Communion Breakfast Sunday

Knights Of St. Vitus Have Special Observance At Church

COMES AT CLOSE OF MEN'S MISSION

Eighth occasion on which a large group of the young men of the Knights of St. Vitus have attended communion in a body at St. Vitus church and then enjoyed a breakfast in the dining room of the church was an event of Sunday morning with Rev. Fr. Camillus O. M. Cap., who conducted a three day mission for men at St. Vitus church prior to Sunday and which came to a close on Sunday morning, as the very special guest of honor.

Nearly two hundred members of the Knights of St. Vitus participated in the communion, which was received at a High Mass started at 8 o'clock and with Rev. Fr. Camillus as the celebrant. This was the first one of these quarterly communion occasions in which the Knights were privileged to receive communion at a High Mass as a body.

The mass was for men only and Father Camillus delivered a special sermon fitted to the occasion. The choir directed by B. J. Biondi rendered the mass called Persol.

Following the mass, the Knights of St. Vitus adjourned to the dining hall of the church, where the ladies of the Knights of St. Vitus Auxiliary served a fine breakfast. The breakfast over, Carm Sacco, president assumed charge and with appropriate introductory remarks introduced Anthony Marino, chairman of the entertainment committee. He in turn introduced Angelo J. Casaccia as toastmaster for the occasion. Mr. Casaccia carried out his difficult part in a very able manner. He first called on B. J. Biondi, director of St. Vitus choir, who spoke appropriately.

Bernard J. Hanlan, state secretary of the Knights of Columbus, spoke in commendation of the work of the Knights of St. Vitus and urged them to keep on working as the results depend on them.

Thomas Flanagan, Grand Knight of St. Mary's Council, Knights of Columbus, in his turn took as his subject "Catholic Action," which he described as a move to help all Catholics to become better Catholics, through a strengthened conviction in the teachings of the Catholic church, gained by living and acting in accordance with these teachings from day to day.

Peter P. Caputo spoke in a humorous vein and was well received. Jacob DeFonso spoke in regard to the organization and the benefit that had been derived from the mission.

Major Guy J. Wandinger spoke on the benefit of observing communion, especially the more often that it is taken. He commended the members of the organization on their fidelity to the rules of the church and stated that good Catholics make Americans.

D. D. Valensi spoke briefly on Italians, who had played an important part in the earlier history of America. H. K. Bell also spoke briefly in appreciation of being a guest on this occasion.

Rev. Fr. Camillus was the concluding speaker and said that one of the big things of the church was a fine Catholic manhood. He said that the church needed men of conviction and men with the courage to live up to their convictions. The bible he said teaches that every man shall be judged according to his light and that the best thing to do was to live as near as possible according to God's law and stand by the teachings of the church.

The meeting was concluded with Anthony Marino, chairman of the entertainment committee assuming charge and expressing his appreciation of what had been done by all in making the occasion a success. Rising voices of thanks were tendered Father Camillus and the Auxiliary to the Knights of St. Vitus, after which Father Camillus pronounced the benediction and the affair came to a close.

Children Have Egg Carnival

Frolic Postponed From Easter Day Is Held At Castle Hill Mission Sunday

Over 400 boys and girls came from New Castle and Lawrence county Sunday to the Castle Hills mission on Vine street for the annual Easter egg carnival, sponsored by L. Schmidt, superintendent of the mission.

After the children had assembled all sang, then they were entertained by a trio "In the Garden," sung by Mr. and Mrs. and Esther Schmidt; James Morgan and L. Schmidt had a comical song for the children, and Julie, the wonder cow, performed the tricks she has been trained to be by Mr. Schmidt.

Songs, recitations, egg rolling and racing supplemented the hunt, which produced colored eggs, candy eggs, chocolate eggs, dolls, toys and other Easter novelties, which the children took home.

Football Fans Anxious To See High Gridders

Several New Faces In "Red Hurricane" Will Be Noted By Mr. And Mrs. Fan

Campbell High Will Bring Strong Team; New Men Are Showing Up Well

Mr. and Mrs. Football Fan are patiently awaiting Thursday night when Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh will present for the approval of Pa. New's citizenry the 1933 edition of his "Red Hurricane." Campbell Memorial high will be here to test the New Castle high gridders. The scene of the game, which by the way is at night, will be Taggart field.

It doesn't seem so long ago that Bridenbaugh prepared his team for McKeesport in a post-season tilt, and New Castle won the game something like 21 to 0, or thereabouts. It was only four months ago to be exact.

Stars Are Gone.
Gone from the lineup that takes the field this week will be the familiar faces of Johnny Uram, the sensational young blonde halfback; Tommy Rambo, the signal barker with extraordinary blocking ability, the ever fast charging and deadly tackling and blocking of Captain Mike DeCarbo; the fine passes from center by William Duff, the sterling end play of Ronnie Thomas and Rocco Tomalio.

In their places will likely be Archie Ridley or "Red" Kneram calling the signals, Pascarella or Sorto in place of DeCarbo, Howley or Billyk in place of Duff, Fred Shellig, Reiber, Hitchens, Miles or Perrett. At the halfback post will likely be found Freddy Lane with Charles "Whitney" Nickum his running mate, and old reliable powerhouse Kinnick at fullback.

New Men Look Good.
Of the new men who reported this year Reiber, Miles, Perrett, Anderson, Fleming, Tommy Jones, McPeak and several others are showing up quite well and so ends Coach Bridenbaugh's worries about substitutes.

Big John Palkovitch is waging a hard fight for a tackle spot left vacant should Bridenbaugh decide to use Fred Shellig at an end post. Palkovitch will tip the scales around the 190 mark and will be a big help on that line along with the Shellig brothers and Raskowski. Gianni and Humphreys are also waging good fights for starting posts and may win out.

Coach Bridenbaugh has uncovered a real player in the person of George Miles, from George Washington junior high, the boy who played center part of the season on the basketball team. Miles is booting them high, wide and handsome and looks like a "find." Anderson and Perrett of Washington high will be heard from, no doubt. They are trying hard and are determined to play for Bridenbaugh.

Team Is Fast.
The outlook for a fast team is very good. There are several speed merchants on the squad, to name them, Lane, Nickum, Anderson and several others.

Well, old man football is going to be back with us for a few weeks, and then off to sleep again until around the first of September when Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner, the hard working "daddy of them all," will start to dust off the chairs at Muddy Creek Falls and get the football camp in shape. There is no getting around the fact that the team gains a world of experience at camp. They should go next fall by all means.

Mahoning A. A. Aids Firemen

Abandons Practice To Aid At South Wayne Street Blaze

"Call the fire department!" Fans have shouted this during ball games in which batters kept hitting and the side couldn't be retired.

Saturday afternoon Mahoning A. A. was practicing. Suddenly Joe Frigone dropped his bat and shouted:

"Fire!"
Within a few moments all the Mahoning A. A. players pursued Joe to South Wayne street. A garage was afire.

The house was in danger of flames. They started carrying the furniture from the house.

Firemen arrived and extinguished the blaze.

The next practice will be held at five p. m. Monday, according to Nick Caney.

Union A. A. To Play Basketball At East Brook

Three Games Carded For East Brook Floor On Tuesday Night

The Union A. A. and East Brook Married men and women basketball teams will play at East Brook Tuesday night. This is a return game to the one played at Union floor several months ago.

There will be three games the married men and women and all-union married women will play first game. Mrs. E. J. Davis manager of the Married Women team will pick her lineup from the following—Centers: Mrs. Morrison and Mrs. Pattison. Side Centers: Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Winters. Tennis Tourney Set For England

United States Surrenders Matter Of Holding Championship Play To England

KING GEORGE MUST HAVE HIS TENNIS

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 24.—It sounds kind of nonsensical and maybe even a little fat headed. Nevertheless, after hearing about some discreet correspondence between the tennis association and the American Embassy in London, there is some cause to believe today that the reason we are not having an open tennis championship in America this year is that the King of England wouldn't like it.

Anyhow, that's the implication. Actually, the King wouldn't know an open championship from an open elevator shaft but, as the British pointed out, it is custom to witness the Wimbledon tournament under the impression he was honoring the world's championship in tennis; imagine, therefore, his royal mortification when he discovered that the world's championships had already been honored by a lot of commoners from East New York, N. J., the previous Tuesday a week.

The British naturally were distressed to learn that anybody could contemplate an open championship under these circumstances but they had 26 votes, including those of Canada and Australia, so they decided that, from an international standpoint, the only fair thing was to take a vote. France has five votes and Henri Cochet, for one, was all for an open championship. The young man being in something of a tantrum against amateurism because it wouldn't let him accept a tennis part in a proposed movie. However, France didn't wish to deprecate its Davis cup challenge round; so it quickly voted in the negative and world opinion against an open championship was thus established.

Gardner Sets Starting Time For Grid Game

Campbell Game Will Start At 8:15 O'clock Thursday Night

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner has set the starting time of the Campbell Memorial-New Castle high spring football game for 8:15 o'clock Thursday evening. The game with Campbell McKinley high will be started at 9 o'clock due to daylight savings time starting next week. The fans are asked to take notice of the starting times of the two games.

The tickets have been going fast. It is indicated that a big crowd will witness the game. Gardner struck a very happy choice in putting 1,500 seats in the west side bleachers on sale for 25 cents. There has been a lot of favorable talk on this matter. A block of 500 seats in the center of the bleachers will sell for 50 cents. The prices in the concrete stand remain the same as last year.

Suit For Damages For Truck Smash

Suit Of Clarence Smiley Against Harmony Company Is On Trial Today

The case of Clarence Smiley against Maurice R. Scharff receiver for the Harmony, Butler and New Castle Railway Company, was taken up for trial before Judge James A. Chambers at county court this morning.

Smiley is asking damages for injuries sustained when a truck in which he was riding was struck by a car on the Harmony line at Marquis stop. Turney K. Schreengost, the driver of the truck, was killed in the accident. Clifford Lytle, another occupant of the truck was injured.

The Harmony car was operated by Harry Klingensmith as motorman and Edward Schaeffer, conductor. Schreengost had driven his truck across the Harmony line at Marquis stop, turned it and was crossing when it was struck by the street car.

Smiley claims that the truck was in plain view for some distance, and that he could not see any car approaching when Schreengost started back across the track.

Kills Three Hawks In Snyder's Woods

Frank Tamburini Discovers Two Nests; Destroys Eggs

Frank Tamburini, Butler avenue, took his shotgun Saturday and went in search of hawks.

And he got three of 'em. The trio of chicken thieves were shot in Snyder's woods at East Brook.

Confessed Poisoner Attempts Suicide

Mrs. Daisy Harmon, 53, Of Indiana, Takes Over-Dose Of Heart Tablets

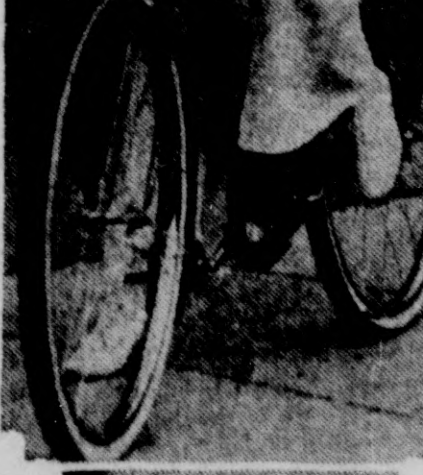

(International News Service)

HAMMOND, Ind., April 24.—Mrs. Daisy Harmon, 53, who confessed the fatal poisoning of Anthony Braubender, her 13-year-old ward, was recovering in the county jail today from the effects of a self-administered overdose of heart medicine.

Physicians gave her an antidote immediately after the widow gulped down 12 tablets.

Police learned she had taken out $4,250 in life insurance policies on Anthony.

Cycling Star

Other stars might have been seen to take up cycling but it remained for Harry Reed to turn out a costume exclusively for the sport. The film star is here shown peddling along a Hollywood boulevard in her new corduroy sports ensemble. It consists of a double-breasted jacket and trousers cut in sailor fashion.

Tommy Bridges Of Detroit, Allows St. Louis Browns One Hit

Ted Lyons Gives Cleveland Two Hits; Pirates Win Two

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 24.—Drama, heartbreak and near-tragedy stalked Major league diamonds yesterday. Rookies and veterans performed sensational to thrill banner Sunday crowds on all fronts.

There was Tommy Bridges, Detroit's hard-luck hurler, missing a no-hit game by a whisker for the second time in two years. Ted Lyons of the White Sox pitching a two-hitter. Waite Hoyt, perennial cast-off, staging a comeback with Pittsburgh. Dazzy Vance, once the game's greatest pitcher, failing to last two innings in his first start with the Cardinals. Leon Gehrig narrowly escaping a trip to the hospital. Home teams in the ninth, with Washington handing the Yankees their first defeat of the season after seven victories. Almost every game was packed with thrills.

Bridges In Shape
A no-hit game just doesn't seem to be in the cards for Bridges. Last year he held Washington hitless until two were out in the ninth inning only to fall to the last minute.

Feeling back, Bridges, St. Louis, he went all the way to the eighth frame before Sam West, leader in the American league batting race, connected for the Browns' only hit, a single. The Tigers got only three hits off Blalohrer, bunting Gehrig's triple and Walker's single with an error in the seventh.

Ted Lyons of the White Sox, who yielded only three singles in his last start, came right back with a two-hitter against Cleveland, winning his own game, 4 to 1, by clubbing a homer and two singles.

Yankees Beaten
Wiley Moore, veteran Yankee reliever, got the inflation fever at Washington. He blew up in the ninth when the Senators threw 25,000 wide-eyed fans into a lather by taking a 5 to 4 decision on Cronin's single. Mantush and Rise were pinch hitters.

Earl Whitehill, the Washington pitcher, bounced a fast one off Lou Gehrig's head, felling him like a log. But the durable Dutchman, thinking of that endurance record, was up again and going strong after taking a brief count.

A pinch hit by Barney Friberg, former Phil, with the bases loaded, struck the Red Sox to a 7 to 5 triumph over the Athletics.

Pirates Win Two
Pittsburgh increased its hold on first place in the National league by downing the Cardinals twice, 4 to 0 and 6 to 2. In the opener Meineke held St. Louis to three hits, while the Pirates ruined the Mound City debut of old Dazzy Vance by knocking him out of the box in the second inning. Another old-timer, Waite Hoyt, made good with the Bucs in the nightcap when St. Louis defense cracked behind Bill Walker.

Walker, Brooklyn's prize rookie from Memphis, lost a 2 to 1 decision to Ed Brandt of the Braves, whom he beat last week. Brooklyn made only three hits. Boston seeded it up in the third inning on Gyselman's triple. Clark's squeeze bunt and Ford's single.

Harry Reed, an American league star many years ago, tripled in the ninth wild St. Louis to give Cincinnati a 4 to 3 thriller over the Cubs. It was the first defeat of the year for Lon Warneke, Chicago mound ace.

Fat Freddy Fitzsimmons of the New York Giants subdued the Phillies, 3 to 1, and added insult to injury by belting a homer off Phil Collins.

Heroes-Goats In Big League

(International News Service)
The here-Tommy Bridges, Detroit, held St. Louis to one hit.

The goat—Irving Burns, Browns. His error, with two out, paved the way for the runs that gave Detroit a 2 to 0 victory.

GRANGERS TO ATTEND RAIL LEAGUE MEETING

A delegation of Lawrence county grangers headed by State Grange Master J. Audley Boak will attend tonight's meeting of the New Castle Citizen's and Railroad Employees' League, when Superintendent J. W. Graves of the Erie railroad's Mahoning division speaks.

The program for which special entertainment has been arranged, will occur at the Pennsylvania railroad's assembly hall.

GRASS FIRE CALLS FIREMEN AT NOON

Central firemen were called to the rear of Court street, east of the Pennsylvania R. R. tracks, at 12:30 today, where a small grass fire was in progress.

UNIFORMS FOR COLLEGE BAND ARE ORDERED

Westminster Musicians To Have Royal Blue Suits, Gift Of Trustee

(Special To The News.)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., April 24.—Uniforms for the Westminster college band have been ordered. Professor Donald O. Cameron, bandmaster, announces. The Titan band will wear royal blue suits trimmed in white, and the student drum major will have a distinctive outfit.

Thirty uniforms were ordered. Professor Cameron said. The trousers are West Point style, royal blue, with white stripes. Royal blue overalls caps, with white trim, will bear the name of the college. It is hoped that uniform coats may be purchased later. Professor Cameron said.

The Westminster band will probably make its first appearance in the new uniforms during commencement week. On Saturday, June 3, which is alumni day, the band will probably lead the alumni parade. On Monday, June 5, the band will play for the academic procession at commencement.

Uniforms for the Westminster student organization were purchased through the generosity of William M. Duff, Pittsburgh, a member of the board of trustees of the college.

MT. HERMON

CEMETERY MEETING

The annual meeting of the Hermon Union cemetery association will be held at Hermon church Wednesday evening April 26 at 8 o'clock.

MT. HERMON NOTES

Miss Thelma Dean is spending a few days with Miss Mae Magee of East Brook.

Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Stevenson visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dick of New Wilmington Tuesday.

Mrs. William Hanna, Mrs. Lloyd Kildoo and Mrs. Irwin Stevenson visited at the Fox school Monday.

Rev. Davidson and family of Enon Valley were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McElwain last Sunday.

Mrs. Helen Kildoo and daughters Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Boak, Mrs. Irwin Stevenson, Miss Wilberta Boak and Clair attended the closing exercise at McCaslin school Thursday.

A large number from here attended the P. T. A. meeting Tuesday evening at Princeton high school. The teachers of the township had charge of the program, it being the last one of the season.

Misses Helen Myers, Lucille White, Robert and Cole Myers, Russell Baldwin and Ashley Stevenson attended the banquet given by the Saratoga in honor of Cameron Ralston at New Castle Thursday evening.

Charity Graft In Fayette County

Persons On Relief Rolls Found To Have Bank Accounts

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 24.—Hundreds of persons on the relief rolls of Fayette county have small fortunes, according to George H. Hibbs, Fayette county director.

As a result wholesale arrests are to be made. Informations charging false pretense have been made against three men and a woman, who have been receiving county relief since last October.

Hibbs ordered the arrests of Paul Skody of Butte, near here, who is alleged to have $2,400 in a bank; Frank Gardner of Murphy avenue, Uniontown, alleged to have $3,000; Alex Kairush Sr. of South Union township, $800, and Mrs. Anne Berks of Mt. Braddock, $500.

"It is an outrage," declared County Detective Hibbs, "that persons with comfortable fortunes, in times like these should, under the guise of poverty, take advantage of charity which others need so much."

Police Hope To Catch Miscreant

J. L. Morely reported to police and also to state officials that some person has twice during the past few days pried open the box where he keeps the chain used to gauge the depth of the Shenango river. The box is located on the West Washington street bridge. Police hope to apprehend the guilty persons.

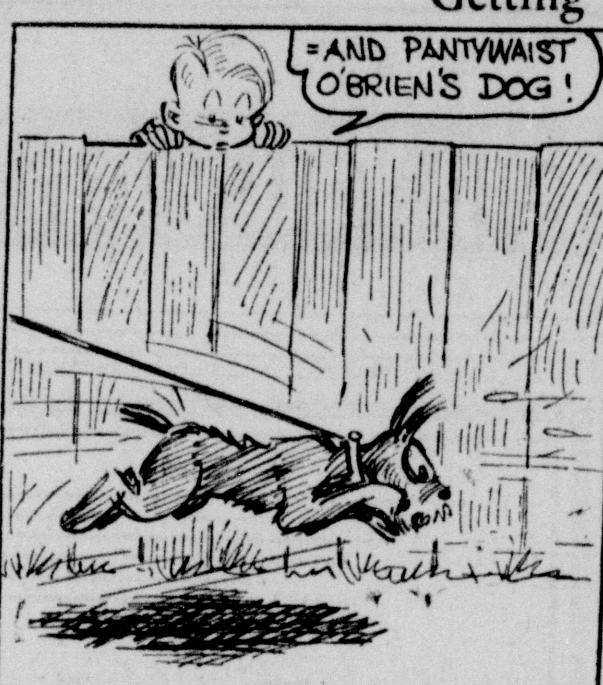

ERIE SUPERINTENDENT WILL MAKE ADDRESS

Superintendent J. W. Graves of the Erie Mahoning division of the Erie railroad at Youngstown, will address the Citizens and Railroaders League when it convenes in the Pennsylvania railroad hall, West Washington street, on Monday evening, April 24.

State Trooper Being Held On Murder Charge

State Trooper John F. Mehlick, Held For Killing Of Wilbur Vite

TROOPER HELD BY CORONER'S JURY

(International News Service) INDIANA, Pa., April 24.—Trooper John F. Mehlick of the Pennsylvania state police was held on a murder charge today as a result of the fatal wounding of Wilbur Vite, 32, of McGees Mills.

Vite, unarmed, was shot and killed by the trooper last Saturday at Glen Campbell.

Had Followed Auto. Mehlick, who was not in uniform, claimed that Vite had followed Mehlick's machine in which the trooper was escorting a young woman to her Glen Campbell home.

When he stopped his machine and ordered Vite to produce his driver's license, Vite leaped from the car and started to run, Mehlick said. The trooper claimed he fired twice, believing Vite was about to draw a pistol from his pocket.

James Pennington, a passenger in Vite's machine, denied that they were following Mehlick's car and said it was only a coincidence that Vite had trailed the trooper and his girl companion into Glen Campbell.

A coroner's jury recommended that the trooper be "held for murder." District Attorney William M. Ruddock, Jr., said a preliminary hearing would be held for Mehlick after an investigation is completed.

Overnight Hike Enjoyed By Boys

Fourteen Mahoningtown Boy Scouts arrived back at their homes Saturday morning after a hike and overnight outing. They were accompanied by Charles Dungan, an assistant scoutmaster.

With packs of blankets and supplies on their backs, the boys started out on Friday afternoon directly after the close of school. They hiked to Flower hollow, a point west of Covert, where they cooked their supper over a cooking fire, unpacked their blankets and settled down to a night beneath the stars. The weather was clear, although it became a little cold toward morning. The bonfire had to be stirred and fed with additional fuel several times.

Breakfast was cooked and the return hike was made.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

When a man bites a dog, that's news. Hot news if it's not a hot dog. By the same yard stick for measuring news, when a fox larrups the ears off a dog that's news. And so boys and girls, here goes for a tale about a gray fox that took a fast decision over a big hunting dog in Slippery Rock township. Are you listening?

Some time ago Thomas Shaffer, who lives down near the Wayne township line in Slippery Rock township, noticed fox tracks that were unusually large. They weren't the tracks of the ordinary Lawrence county red fox, and they weren't a dog's tracks.

Snow was still on the ground and Mr. Shaffer took his dog along with him and the hunt for Reynard started. Down a gulley and along a hill and finally they cornered the fox in a hole. Dog and man started digging until finally the dog could get into the hole.

He would crawl in and struggle for a while and then crawl out, whimpering. Suddenly a big bushy tailed gray fox crawled out of the hole to settle the argument and the motion picture rights to that fight would have been worth something to the movie men.

Round and round they went with the fox taking every round. No dog ever took a tastier licking according to Mr. Shaffer and at the end of the fight the fox trotted away, his big bushy tail waving like the battle flag of a victorious army.

Gray foxes in this country are scarce and the unusual size of this fellow makes him more of a prize. He is still at large out along the Slippery Rock creek and down in Hell's Hollow. Thus far he has evaded traps and dogs, and has been nicknamed the Gray Ghost of the Slippery Rock.

The vandals are out early this year. Saw a piece of vandalism yesterday that ought to get somebody three years in the jugado, to use the Mex for a moment. Some sassafras hunters had dug around the largest sassafras tree I ever saw, cut the roots and left the tree to die. It must have been fifteen inches in diameter, and went up thirty feet, straight and shapely. And yet for a couple of dollars worth of sassafras chips, these thieves had ruined a tree that took nature a generation to develop, not to mention the fact that they were trespassers and guilty of theft of property.

Without a great deal of fuss being made about it, there has been a lot of reforestation going on in the Slippery Rock Valley in the past few years. In one location alone there are 17,000 trees set out, mostly pine, some spruce and a little popular and larch.

One stand of 1000 Scotch pines is in its fourth year and the trees are now up to a height of about four feet. Ten years from now the whole valley will be thick with evergreen plantings. And to the plantings of man, nature has added a stand of virgin hemlock on a hillside out there that looks like some painting of a master.

Got a telephone call Saturday from some person who wanted to know what the newspaper could do to stop anonymous letter writers sending their poison through the mail. The caller was worried about some truck he had received and thought there might be something could be done about it.

Sorry old timer, but there is nothing we can do about mad dogs, poisonous reptiles, the seventeen year locust and anonymous letter writers. Of the four the latter is probably the most to be despised, for the first three are just that way through no fault of their own.

Mystery Attends Sudden Death Of Wealthy Woman

Probe Death Of Mrs. Mary Campbell, 60, Believed Poisoned After Threat

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, April 24.—An autopsy at Allegheny county morgue today was expected to return an answer to the question "Was Mrs. Mary Campbell poisoned—and, if so, by whom?"

Mrs. Campbell, 60, well-to-do resident of Coraopolis Heights, died in Valley hospital, Sewickley, after a sudden illness.

Exact cause of her death was uncertain, and this uncertainty lent credence to reports that a money-or-death threat had found its way into her home via the mails recently.

Police said she ignored the threat.

Mrs. Campbell became ill last night shortly after she had dinner. She was dead a few hours later.

She lived alone in an attractive home on the Beaver grade road at Carnot. Her only companions, for the last 15 years, were her pets, several cats and dogs.

She was reputed to be wealthy and was said to own several pieces of real estate and a coal mine.

"Mother," said little Bobby, in an injured tone, "you have no right to send me to bed without my supper."

"Why, what do you mean?" inquired his mother.

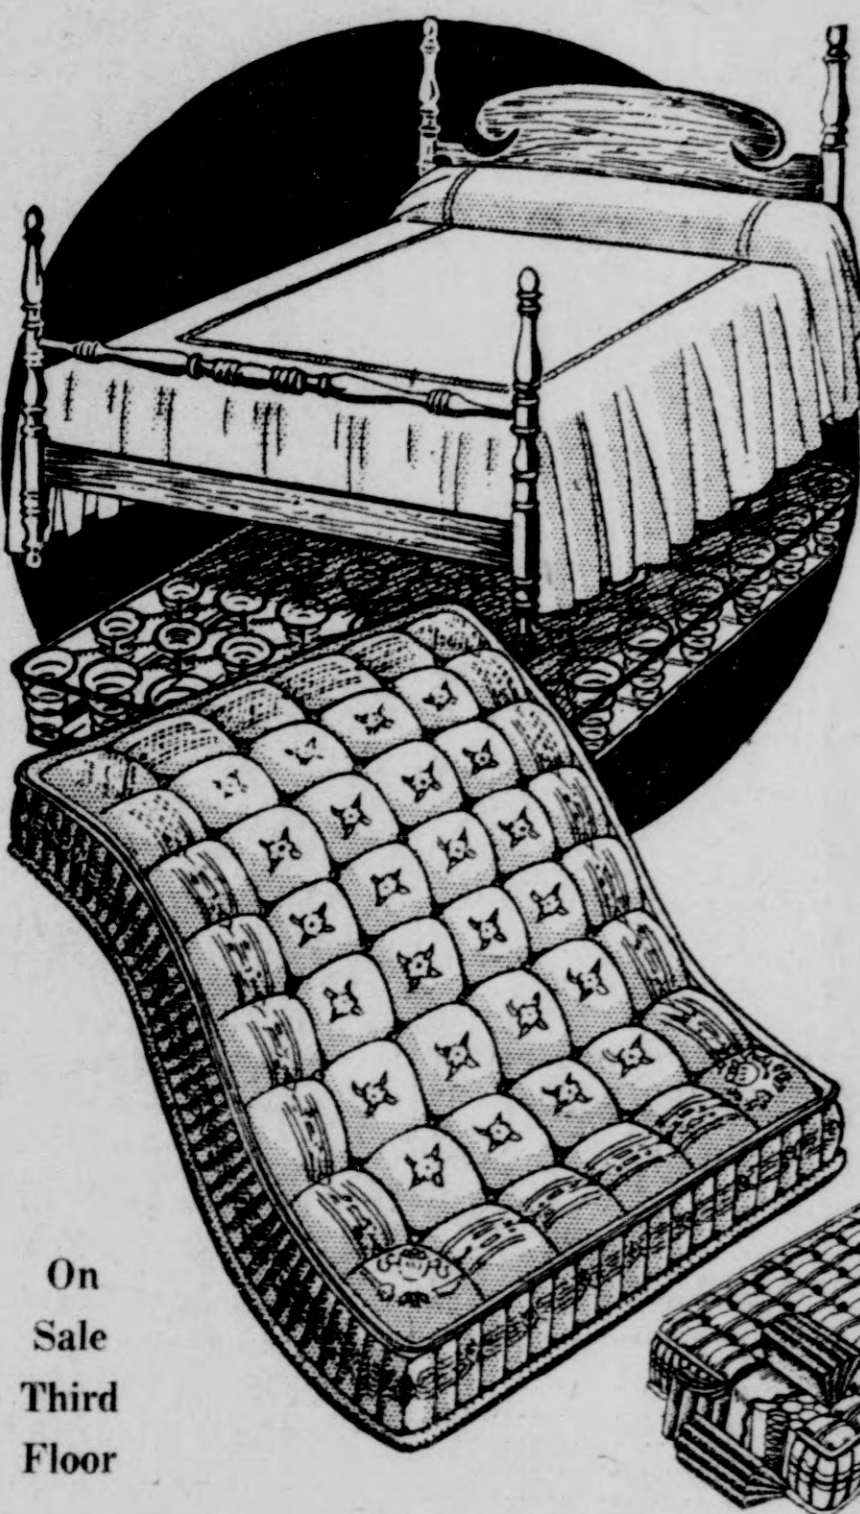

"The Declaration of Independence," proceeded Bobby, with great emphasis "says there should be no governing without the consent of the governed."

Believe Illinois Nurse Slain And Tossed In River

New Evidence Uncovered In Murder Over Death Of Young Student Nurse

(International News Service) CHILLICOTHE, O., April 24.—New evidence indicating that Miss Lola Wells, 20-year-old student nurse, was murdered and her body thrown into the Illinois river was ready today for presentation to the coroner's jury.

Miss Wells disappeared from St. Joseph's hospital in Bloomington on February 27 and her body was found in the river last Wednesday.

Authorities questioned Max Lockenvitz Jr., 23, who denied there had been a lovers' quarrel between him and Miss Wells on the eve of her disappearance. Kenneth Wells, brother of the dead girl, had told authorities that the student nurse and her admirer had had a disagreement.

There is a theory that North and South America were once parts of Europe-Asia-Africa, but cracked loose and floated off.

Sisters Grateful For Aid At Fire

Assistance Rendered By New Castle Department At Villa Marie Appreciated

An expression of appreciation was voiced today by the Sisters of Humility of Mary, located at Villa Marie, for the valuable assistance rendered by Assistant Fire Chief Jas. E. Thomas and the B. Truck Co. who went to the convent at Villa Marie Saturday morning when the community center there was threatened by fire.

The sisters of the order stated that the local firemen assisted materially in preventing the spread of the blaze to other buildings, and helped save one structure which had already taken fire.
